

Body of Slain Mobster Found Near Monticello That of 'Chink' Sherman

New York Police Identify Apparent Gangland Victim as Man Once Accused of Stabbing Dutch Schultz in 1931.

SEVENTH VICTIM

Sherman, About 40, Had Been Dead Several Hours; Head Badly Crushed; Limb Over Body.

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—The body of a man found in a shallow grave near Monticello, apparently the victim of a gangland execution, was identified today by police as that of Charles "Chink" Sherman, once accused of stabbing Dutch Schultz in a Broadway night club.

The identification was made through fingerprint records. Sherman, detectives said, long had been known as an enemy of Schultz, late kingpin of New York city's racketeers. Schultz and three of his mob were slain last month in a Newark tavern.

Sherman was the seventh victim of the new outbreak of gang warfare in the New York area.

Sherman, about 40 years old, had been dead several hours when his body, stripped of all clothing, was found in a crude grave in an abandoned barn on the Monticello-Hurleyville highway.

His head appeared to have been crushed with an ax, just as "Pretty Boy" Amberg, Brooklyn racketeer, was treated by gangster executioners a few weeks ago. Amberg's body was found in a blazing automobile.

There was a bullet wound in Sherman's left arm. Quicklime had been sprinkled over the body.

Sherman's police record showed several arrests but no convictions. In January, 1931, Schultz was stabbed during a wild affray in the Club Abbey, a Broadway resort.

Schultz and several other mobsters were in the night club, at 54th street and Broadway, when shooting started. Before the battle was over, more than a score of shots had been fired and Schultz stabbed.

Police arrested Sherman and charged him with felonious assault in connection with the stabbing of Schultz. He was later discharged. The outbreak in the club was precipitated, Broadway detectives believed, by an attempt of Schultz to wrest control of night club and beer rackets from Waxey Gordon, by whom Sherman reputedly was employed.

At various times Sherman was reported to be a friend of Schultz, but police said he was aligned against "the Dutchman" more often than with him.

Sergeant P. J. Mangan of State Police, in charge of the investigation which followed the finding of Sherman's body, said he believed that without doubt the man was killed in a dispute over leadership in the New York city rackets.

Sherman's body might not have been found for some time had not a carpenter noticed a spot of blood on the highway near the barn. He notified authorities and they began an investigation.

Footprints led deputy sheriffs to the barn. Inside it a man's sock was found, then a soft spot in the earth. The spot yielded a pair of trousers, a sweater and a coat. Under the clothing lay the body, sprinkled with lime.

Sergeant Mangan said he believed the man was killed in an automobile, then dragged to the barn, strangled and buried.

Monticello is approximately 100 miles from New York city.

The farm is a summer boarding place owned by a New York city family named Drucker. Jack Drucker, a son of the owner, was involved, police said, in a Brooklyn gang shooting in 1933. Barney Drucker, another son, recently completed a ten-year term in Dannemora prison for grand larceny.

Police said Sherman reputedly owned an interest in one or more Broadway night clubs.

It was reported that a tip reached police headquarters last Sunday that gang wars would blaze that night in a Broadway club in which Sherman supposedly held an interest. The rumor was that one gang had planned a dinner there and that a rival mob had plotted to interrupt the affair with bullets.

The dinner, so far as could be learned, did not take place, nor did the rival gangsters appear. Fifteen detectives and a deputy inspector were reported to have been stationed in and about the club during the night.

Sherman was once arrested on a Sullivan law charge. Four recovery and an option outfit were found in a Bronx flat linked to him. The charges were dismissed.

The current wave of gang killings began with the Amberg brothers of Brooklyn as the victims. Then came the fatal shooting of Schultz and three Henricsons in Newark.

Powerful Kentucky Democrat Goes Over To Republicans At 11th Hour

Scattered State Elections Watched by Political Leaders

for 1936 Omen as Kentucky, New York and New Jersey Ballotings Are Focal Points—Thomas S. Rhea Supports Ruby Lafoon in Supporting Republican Gubernatorial Candidate.

N.Y. State Election Is Viewed Anxiously By New Deal Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

Major contest—Election of state assembly, now controlled by Democrats after victory last fall. State and national leaders of both parties have accepted election as test of new deal strength in President Roosevelt's home state. Present lineup: 77 Democrats, 72 Republicans. Republicans predict they will win at least 65 seats. Democrats expect to retain control, winning 80 seats. All 150 seats to be filled.

Number of voters—Approximately 6,000,000, three quarters of a million more than 1931, the last comparable year.

Weather—Unsettled. Occasional rain forecast in some sections.

Polls open—From 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Other highlights: Senate vacancies to be filled in ninth and 35 districts; twelve supreme court justices to be chosen in eight districts; municipal elections featured by mayoralty contests in 53 upstate cities; local option question to be decided in four score towns in rural sections.

One proposition and three amendments to the state constitution to be decided. They provide for:

A $55,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue.

A constitutional amendment permitting county government reform.

A constitutional amendment permitting five-sixth verdicts in civil cases.

A constitutional amendment repealing the corporation and joint-stock association stockholders' liability law.

Eyes Of The Nation.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—National leaders of both parties cast an eye on President Roosevelt's home state today as nearly 6,000,000 voters participated in the 1936 presidential contest.

The major interest centered in the filling of 150 seats of the state assembly, lower house of the legislature, in a contest accepted by Democratic and Republican chiefs in state and nation as an indication of new deal sentiment.

The Democrats won control of the House last fall for the first time in 22 years with 77 seats, one more than the Republicans' 73.

Republican National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher has appealed for an overthrow of Democratic control as a repudiation of the New Deal, declaring the Democratic administration "stands at the bar of public opinion."

White insisting that the Assembly election involves state issues only. Postmaster General James A. Farley as state and national Democratic chairman accepted the G. O. P. challenge with the assertion "If the Republicans wish to fight it out on a national line, we'll take them on."

Capitol observers figure the result will be exceptionally close, with no party winning more than 75 or 80 votes.

Most of the campaign has been concentrated in doubtful upstate counties, where the Democrats now have only 17 of 88 seats. In New York city, the party has all but two of 52 seats.

Two vacancies in the state Senate will be filled, two members of the national House of Representatives will be chosen in New York city, and numerous judicial and mayoralty posts are at issue.

The voters will decide, too, whether they shall authorize a $55,000,000 bond issue for relief purposes and approve or reject three proposed state constitutional amendments, principal among which is that clearing the way for county government reform.

The other amendments would provide for six-sixth jury verdicts in civil cases and repeal the 100-year-old law requiring stockholders of corporations and joint stock associations for banking purposes shall be responsible for all debts and liabilities.

President Roosevelt voted in person at his home town of Hyde Park, in Dutchess county, while Governor Herbert H. Lehman cast his ballot in New York city.

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Police started their drive for an orderly election hours before the polls opened and by 7 a. m. today had arrested 210 persons as suspicious persons.

Most of the arrests were made in the Harlem and upper East side sections of Manhattan, only one being arrested in Brooklyn and two in the Bronx.

(By The Associated Press)

Eager for any omen as to 1936, political leaders fixed their attention upon today's scattered state elections, with much interest centering on Kentucky, New York and New Jersey.

An eleventh-hour development emphasized a schism in the Democratic organization of Kentucky. An announcement by Thomas S. Rhea, a power in Democratic politics in the Blue Grass border state, that he would join Democratic Governor Ruby Lafoon in supporting the Republican gubernatorial nominee, King Swope, dashed any hopes of national party leaders that the Kentucky breach would be narrowed before balloting began.

Since Kentucky will not begin counting the votes in her state-wide election until tomorrow, observers turned their immediate attention to voting for state legislators in New York and Jersey where Republicans had injected the New Deal into the campaigning.

In addition, New York was filling two vacancies in the national house of representatives, Philadelphia was selecting a mayor in a race that attracted more than state-wide attention, and Virginia and Mississippi where going through an off-year routine of ratifying candidates for the legislature and state offices selected in Democratic primaries.

Hugh White, wealthy lumberman, was the Democratic candidate for governor in Mississippi, his primary victory being tantamount to election.

Scattered Mayoral Contests.

Scattered mayoral contests over the country were being watched with more than ordinary interest, too. Philadelphia, Cleveland, San Francisco (a non-partisan election), Hartford, Bridgeport and New Haven, among more than 40 upstate New York cities.

President Roosevelt was at Hyde Park to participate in the ballot box decision as to whether Democrats are to retain their majority of three seats in the state assembly.

Republicans lost control at Albany last year for the first time in 22 years. This fall they made a determined drive to regain lost ground and hammered away at the New Deal as well as talking state issues. Democrats accepted the challenge, but campaigned primarily on the record of Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

Republicans contended a victory for them would be a defeat for the New Deal, "Farley Dictatorship," and Democratic policies making "New York the fifth wheel of the New Deal chariot." They predicted they would win the assembly by 10 seats.

No Democratic Forecasts

Democrats made no forecasts, but James A. Farley, national and state chairman, was represented as feeling the Democratic majority would be increased. A total of 150 seats in the Assembly was at stake.

New Jersey was electing a legislature of 60 members of the House and eight of its 21 senators. Republicans now control the Assembly 24 to 26 and the Senate 15 to 6.

Former Senator Walter E. Edge, Republican, described the New Jersey election as "the first and most important round in the Presidential election of 1936."

In Kentucky, Chandler, present lieutenant governor, has been on the outs with Lafoon over the sales tax and other state questions. The action of Rhea, the governor's unsuccessful candidate in the September run-off primary, in going to the support of the Republican Swope, was not surprising to national Democratic leaders, but they had held some hope the breach would not reach that point.

However, Rhea told an audience of fellow townsmen at Russellville last night that he still was a supporter of President Roosevelt. Lafoon also had taken the same stand.

Chandler lieutenant had urged that a vote for him was essential to a civil case and repeal the 100-year-old law requiring stockholders of corporations and joint stock associations for banking purposes shall be responsible for all debts and liabilities.

President Roosevelt voted in person at his home town of Hyde Park, in Dutchess county, while Governor Herbert H. Lehman cast his ballot in New York city.

League Group Meets For Purpose of "Squeezing" Boycott Against Italy

Resolution Providing for Ban on Exportation of Coal, Petroleum, Iron and Steel is Prepared for Presentation.

WORLD COURT AGAIN

Italian Newspaper Reports Today That Attempt Made on Life of Haile Selassie.

Geneva, Nov. 5 (AP)—The economic sub-committee of the League of Nations Sanctions Committee was called together today for consideration of a measure calculated to add a squeeze to the boycott against Italy.

A resolution providing for the ban on exportation to Italy of coal, petroleum, iron and steel was prepared for presentation to the meeting as the first step in cutting off these essentials from the Italian country.

The first task of the sub-committee, however, will be the examination of the replies from various governments to the League suggestion to cut off these commodities. The resolution will then be passed on to the Committee of 18 for action tomorrow.

If the Committee of 18 adopts the resolution, the entire documentation bearing on the League's decision will be forwarded to Washington.

League officials emphasized no pressure will be used on non-member nations, including the United States, to cooperate in the embargo of these products. But league members were said to hope for voluntary statements from Washington and German on what their action is likely to be.

U. S. Membership

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Some senators are planning to renew their efforts to get the United States into the world court if the League of Nations succeeds in effecting a peaceful settlement of the Italian-Ethiopian war.

They feel that leadership in negotiations ending the conflict would lessen antagonism to the league in this country and stimulate sentiment for American participation in the court. The latter, set up in 1920 to arbitrate international disputes, was fostered under the league's covenant.

Referring not to be quoted by name at present because the league's economic sanctions against Italy do not become effective until November 18 and the outcome may continue uncertain for some time, advocates of the court agree that its worth is not directly at stake in the current crisis. They argue, however, that it stands to share any prestige gained by the league.

Adherence to the court was defeated by the Senate early this year despite President Roosevelt's advocacy of it.

At that time the vote was 52 for adherence and 36 against. Thus there were seven votes short of the required two-thirds.

Whether the Senate should be given authority to say what questions could be submitted to the court was a major point of controversy in the debate leading up to the final vote. An amendment proposed by Senator Norris (R-Neb.) to make the Senate judge of every American question to be submitted was opposed by the President on the ground it invaded his rights to conduct the nation's foreign affairs.

After the administration proposal for American entry had failed, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said that result "forecloses the question" for an indefinite period. He added, however, that the proposals for adherence would remain in the Senate unless the President called for them.

Rome, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Armata correspondent of the newspaper La Tribuna reported today that an attempt had been made on the life of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia (Haile Selassie was reported in dispatches from Addis Ababa to be in that capital. There was no direct comment on the Tribuna report.

4 Dead, Damage $1,500,000 In New Florida Hurricane

FREAK STORM HITS FLORIDA

This map shows the trail of the freak hurricane that zigzagged down the Atlantic coast and suddenly switched westward to strike the southern tip of Florida. The winds swept inland at Fort Lauderdale, unroofing houses and flooding streets, then passed toward Miami and the Florida keys. The steamer Seneland, buffeted by heavy seas, was reported in distress just off Fort Lauderdale.

Deaths Occur in Miami Where 5 Are Missing; 124 Persons in Hospitals

Unidentified Freighter off Miami Beach Sends Up Distress Flares All Night; Utilities are Crippled Badly.

PLANE RESCUES 3

Wind Estimated Unofficially at 100 Miles; Other Communities Suffer Damage in Storm.

Miami, Fla., Nov. 5 (AP)—In bright sunlight, Miami's residents rolled up their shirt sleeves today and began clearing away wreckage left by a hurricane that caused four deaths and heavy damage—thankful the post-season blow was no worse.

The Storm.

A hurricane bred off Bermuda to move friskishly south, lashed Miami Monday with winds unofficially recorded at 100 miles and blew across extreme southern Florida into the Gulf of Mexico.

The Jacksonville weather Bureau advised at 9:30 a. m. eastern standard time, that the storm was centered about 85 miles west northwest of Key West with shifting gales and winds of near hurricane force over a small area. Vessels in the eastern gulf were warned. Its rate of movement was diminished, indicating a possible change in direction.

Toll In Miami.

The toll in Miami: Four known dead, five reported missing, 124 persons given hospital treatment for injuries and property damage over greater Miami area estimated between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

The toll elsewhere:

Property damage set at $200,000 in Hollywood, just north of Miami, and nine injured; "50 per cent damage" in Little Dade, where several were hurt, considerable loss in Fort Lauderdale and other nearby communities; estimated $500,000 damage to citrus fruit and $50,000 to tomato crop in Highlands district.

Nassau reported five fishing boats missing.

Situation Today.

Trucksloads of workmen, hundreds of them heretofore on unemployment rolls, hurried into the hardest hit areas to clear away the wreckage in preparation for winter visitors.

A survey of Miami Beach confirmed last night's impression that winter homes of the rich escaped heavy damage.

Still off shore was an unidentified freighter which sent up distress flares in the night. The boat has a black hull, yellow superstructure and apparently 250 to 300 feet long. There was no sign of rescuing Coast Guard vessels. The cutter Seneca and Saranac were dispatched last night to aid the ship.

Workmen were busy trying to get utilities working. A large part of Miami was still without lights, many telephones were not working and water was off in most sections of the city. The gas supply was all right in most cases. Street cars were scheduled to resume this afternoon.

Horace Matthews, a bridge tender, who was reported missing yesterday, returned to his home later unhurt.

Plane Rescues 3

A Coast Guard plane today rescued three men from Soldiers Key, where storm winds overtook their small boat yesterday.

Lieut. W. L. Clemmer of the Coast Guard said he saw an overturned boat north of Virginia Key, but was unable to make out its name. He piloted a plane on a two-hour reconnaissance flight over a large area south of Miami, reporting "very little damage" but added several homes in the date near Homestead apparently were flooded.

Lieut. C. B. Olsen returned from a flight over the section north of Miami with report that all damage was in the area south of Islamorada, which is a few miles north of Fort Lauderdale.

Commercial and pleasure craft were pounded by waves and wind. Several boats were tossed back upon the land.

Few frame buildings escaped the fury of the wind.

Highways were broken and power lines cut. Several establishments of the Miami area, including the Madison Square Garden arena here and the Hibiscus race plant, were damaged.

Ward and other health centers continued to care for the several victims reported by dispatch agent.

A freighter off the coast of Miami was reported to have been blown 40 miles off its course, and the hurricane force blowing 40 miles off the coast prevented an opportunity for a rescue mission, thus making the situation more serious, thus making the situation more serious.

The flood in Miami was reported to be a failure.

High School Vote Predicts Republican Victory at Polls Here

As is the custom at the Kingston High School a straw vote was taken last week on the election today, and the figures have just been made public. The straw vote shows that Mayor Heiselman and the other Republican candidates are winners by big majorities over their Democratic opponents.

The straw vote follows:

For mayor: Heiselman 320 Martin 551

For sheriff: Molyneux 482 Mutari 523

For Assembly: Conway 838 Donnoruma 563

In the straw vote on supreme court judge Harry H. Fleming was paired with Judge Bergan, and Judge Schirick was paired with Judge Staley with the following results:

Fleming 842 Bergan 527 Staley 527 Schirick 768

It will be seen by this straw vote that Judge Schirick was the only Democrat to poll a large vote, although it was smaller than the vote cast for the candidates on the Republican ticket.

These straw votes taken each year at the high school are a gauge as to how the local elections generally go.

Fast Sum Saved

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The justice department said today that $24,451,646 was saved for the country and its citizens in cases investigated by the "G" men during the year ended June 1. The agents, with the help of experts, scientists and other crime specialists who aided in the crime battle, cost the government $4,625,318 during the year, the department said. The chief saving was said to be in the field of war risk insurance provided for veterans injured in war.

The agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were also said to have been successful in saving $1,200,000 in cases of fraud and $1,200,000 in cases of fraud.

Tenants Receipts

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The position of the tenants on November 2, was: Receipts, $11,989,839.51; expenditures, $12,127,927.84; balance, $1,644,192.00. Customs receipts for the month, $2,681,194.28; receipts for the fiscal year, $26,471,141.11; expenditures, $26,471,141.11; balance, $0.00.

Dr. B.A. Reynolds Dies, Hurt in Auto Crash, Was Walkill Dentist

Dr. B. A. Reynolds of Walkill, well known dentist in southern Ulster, and for some time dentist at the Walkill Medium Security Prison at Walkill, died this morning at the Kingston Hospital where he has been seriously ill for the past several days following an automobile accident last Friday on the Modern New Palitz highway when his car collided with a tree.

For several years Dr. Reynolds was associated with the Cady Dental Office in Poughkeepsie and later with Dr. Ganss in Highland.

He succeeded to that office and also to the dental office in New Palitz where he moved and lived for some time. From New Palitz he went to Walkill where he was very successful in his practice and was appointed dentist at the prison and at the same time continued his private practice in Walkill.

Seriously injured last Friday, he was brought to the Kingston Hospital where he died at 5:30 o'clock this morning. He is survived by his wife and one sister in Vermont.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but the services will be held from his late home in Walkill.

FARLEY IS CONFIDENT.

BETTING AGENCIES DISAGREE

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley expressed confidence as he voted today that a Democratic majority will be returned in New York state, but city betting agencies disagreed.

"I am sure a sufficient number of votes like mine will be cast to make the result entirely satisfactory to the Democratic party," said Farley.

The betting agencies offered odds of four to two that the next assembly will be Republican.

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, who with Mrs. Lehman voted shortly before noon, declined to comment on election prospects.

Wallace's Warning.

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Traveling on the dangers he was in land speculation, Secretary Wallace warned farmers again today against letting farm real estate prices get "out of line."

"Anything which causes farm land values to get out of line with the earning power of the land is bad for the farmer and bad for nearly everyone else," the agriculture secretary said in an interview. "The low interest rates, the AAA activities, and the generally easy money now might result in a lot of money flowing into farm real estate."

Youth Rally Is Held Sunday at Highland, Miss Benfer Speaks

Highland, Nov. 5.—Miss Rachel Benfer of the Allison-James school in Santa Fe, N. M., was the chief speaker at the Youth Rally held Sunday evening in the Presbyterian Church when more than 150 young people of the North River Presbytery gathered under the auspices of the Young People's missionary department of the North River Presbytery, of which Mrs. William J. McVey of Freedom Plains is chairman for the juniors and Mrs. D. S. Haynes of Highland is chairman of the intermediates, and Mrs. A. W. Leint of missionary education.

Miss Benfer, as a teacher of three subjects in the co-educational school is but one of the students in her youth, her adaptation of their interests and her leadership along Christian living. She summed up her talk which held the attention of the audience which filled the church by the philosophy of a young man among her students, "If your living and teaching don't match, the living is no good." Her dress, a present from the graduating class, was typical of the southwest in its bright colors and large black lace shawl. She displayed a belt made of silver and a blanket woven by the natives. She told of the differences in habits and customs, of the vast distances to travel, with perhaps 80 miles one way to attend a rally, or 45 miles to the nearest doctor, at a cost of $1 a mile, and all in one of our United States. She reminded the young people it was their help that was giving the young people there the Christian help they needed in schools and hospitals. The state is still Spanish in its speaking and customs.

The evening opened with a supper served by the members of the local Mission Circle with the Spanish chili con carne as one article on the menu. Mrs. McVey presided at the supper introducing many of the guests as from the Family Album, Miss Alberta Davis of Kingston was the Northfield representative for the young people last summer; the Rev. William Swartz of Pleasant Valley, is chairman of the Young People's conference committee; Miss Ella Churchill of Kingston, who with Miss Davis led the devotion in the meeting; the Rev. and Mrs. Armstrong of Kingston; the Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Moser of Pine Plains; Mrs. Moser being president of North River Presbytery; the Rev. Arthur James of Smithfield Church; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Malthouse of Poughkeepsie; Mr. Malthouse leading the singing; the Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Haynes of the local church, the Rev. W. J. McVey, moderator of North River Presbytery from Freedom Plains; Robert Dean, who gave the welcome; the Rev. Gates of Kingston, Miss Rachel Benfer, the speaker; and lastly Mr. Haynes introduced the talking page of the album as Mrs. McVey.

Gathered in the auditorium for the meeting Miss Ella Churchill conducted the devotion assisted by Miss Alberta Davis who announced the topic as Brotherhood. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Goodrich Gates of Kingston; greetings were given by Mrs. Charles Moser of Pine Plains; greetings from the Highland Church to visitors by Robert Dean; greetings from North River Presbytery, the Rev. W. J. McVey of Freedom Plains; solo, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," by Raymond Malthouse; offering prayer, the Rev. Charles Moser; talk by Miss Benfer; prayer by Rev. Arthur James; and the benediction by the Rev. D. S. Haynes.

Attending from Kingston and Rondout: The Misses Alberta Davis, Ella Churchill, Ruth McCausland, Mary McCausland, Ann Davis, Frances Gage, Alice Brown, Vivian Duffley, Mary Van Valkenburgh, Phyllis Kellerman, Elizabeth Cline, Mary O'Connor, Louise Tanner, Shirley Goodell, Jean DuBois, Evelyn Winfield, Emily W. POLITICS at Random

THE children and grown-ups who thought they saw strange and terrible things by the light of the Halloween moon need make no apologies. Many of the politically great and powerful are having the same experience.

The general election still is a year away, but the dark forebodings which always accompany its approach already are evident among the politicians of both parties.

Nothing is more deceptive than the smiling urbanity customarily exhibited to the public view by men in public office and men who aspire to public office. Underneath, a very large percentage of them really are pessimists, not optimists.

Political hobgoblins are no respecters of persons. They put many a party chief into a midnight sweat, and assail many a stalwart with creeps and jitters.

Without any reference whatever to the present occupant of the White House, it is of record that not even chief executives as a class are immune.

Skeletons Are Rattling

AS TO 1936, both Democrats and Republicans are able to visualize things calculated to make the teeth chatter.

Every member of the house of representatives is up for reelection. Included are scores of Democrats who know their districts are normally Republican, and a considerable number of Republicans who wish they knew how far they dared go in condemning the administration.

Only a third of the senators are up, but most of them find their sleep disturbed by the prospect of strong opposition, either from within their own party or by a militant and hungry group of "outs," or both.

So far as the presidential situation itself is concerned, plenty of skeletons are rattling in the closet. The chief Democratic spook just now is the possibility that the supreme court may overthrow the whole Roosevelt program. That would mean that a new program would have to be devised right in the midst of a campaign year, or else it would raise a constitutional issue which many Democratic leaders wish to avoid.

There are others. The budget tangle, the deficits, and the urgent necessity of deciding what relief funds to ask for next year—this all is part of a nightmare of dancing figures and gaping discrepancies. And the Republicans are seeing to it that the specter of the Democratic promises of 1932 is not forgotten.

'Political Blues'

AMONG the Republicans walk the ghosts of past rivalries and the insinuating certainty of new ones.

Vague and mournful questionings shape themselves in the murk: Can a party split possibly be avoided if Mr. Hoover or Mr. Borah, or both, decide to run? How can four billion dollars be beaten? Has the campaign started too soon, and is the tide turning back to Roosevelt? Suppose a war scare lifts up a "stand-by-the-President" issue?

Perhaps the most realistic of the Republican banes is the AAA. The problem of what to do about the farm situation gives many a Republican leader an ugly turn every time he goes out in the dark.

On top of it all, both parties are badly in need of campaign funds, yet in these days of popular suspicion and scandal-searching they are inclined to look over their shoulders whenever anyone offers them a dollar.

So most of the smiles should not be taken seriously. In fact, if some clever composer could catch the full sweep of present-day political downheartedness in a "Political Blues," the song undoubtedly would be the bluest blues of them all.

4-H Club News

Rock School Club

On Friday, October 25, the senior boys of the Rock School 4-H Club gave a Halloween party to the senior girls and their friends.

The schoolhouse was very nicely decorated with autumn leaves, corn stalks, and the usual Halloween trimmings. Leroy Davis and Nat Phillips were in charge of the decorations.

The evening was spent in dancing and playing games. Dainty refreshments were served. Everyone was pleased to have with them Hayward and Harry Mitchell and Edward Balfe, who have been at Mohonk for the summer.

The Rock School Juniors held a Halloween party on Monday evening, October 21. A fine time was had by all. All the club members were present. Some came dressed in costumes. Elma Aho received the prize for the nicest costume and Marjorie Schermerhorn for the funniest.

Mrs. Tessie Schlobohm of Yonkers called on friends in the village center Saturday.

Dr. Bruno of New York City is a guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hans Cohn.

Harold Wilson of New Jersey, who spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Maybelle Wilson of the Samsonville road, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country Sunday.

Robert Secor of Kingston has repaired his bungalow north of the state road.

Local men soon will be offered four days' work a week on the approved Krumville-Samsonville road project, according to current report.

Homer Markle, Jr., came up from Locust Valley, L. I., to spend a few days at the Markle homestead in the west end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haggerty, former Shokan residents, were callers in the village Sunday.

In 1795 the State of Georgia sold 86,973 1/2 acres of land to the Tennessee company for $500. Today this land includes all of the Muscle Shoals district and is worth millions.

RED SEA AGAIN IN FOCUS OF INTEREST

Center of World Events for Many Centuries.

Washington, D. C.—The ancient canal-like Red sea, center of world events from Tutanekham down to Lawrence of Arabia, is again the stage for history-making as Italian troopships parade to Eritrea and navies of Italy and Britain patrol its waters from Aden to Socatra.

The tides of history, religion, and culture have ebbed and flowed through the Red sea and the countries along its hot, desert coasts since the earliest times," says the National Geographic society.

"Mecca, on its eastern border, was the birthplace of Mohammed, founder of the Moslem religion which now counts more than two hundred million adherents. To this holy city hundreds of thousands of Mohammedans journey yearly. To the north is the Sinai peninsula, where the Children of Israel wandered on the way to the Promised Land, and Moses received the Ten Commandments.

"To the west is Egypt, seat of one of the oldest cultures in the world, with a history extending back more than 5,000 years; while across the Red sea in southern Arabia is the huge Rub al Khali desert whose past and present alike are practically unknown to the outside world.

Great Trade Highway.

"With the building of the Suez canal, the 1,200-mile length of the Red sea became one of the earth's great commercial highways. British forces, in Egypt on the north and in Aden and British Somaliland on the south, guard it as an essential link of the trade route to India and the Orient.

"Egypt, most important of the Red sea's hinterlands, is essentially a vast desert through which runs a narrow, fertile strip along the course of the Nile river. Of its 347,840 square miles, only 12,226 are cultivable, but most of this watered area is rich, and irrigation works are enlarging the acreage that can be farmed.

"Egypt borders the Red sea for more than 550 miles, but has no ports of any importance on this coast.

"The Sinai peninsula, through which the Suez canal runs, is a part of Egypt. It is flat and sandy except in the southern part where mountains rise as high as 5,000 feet.

"Egypt's independence was recognized in 1922 by Great Britain, with the proviso that defense of the country should remain under British control.

"South of Egypt lies the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, where the British and Egyptian flags fly side by side and a British governor general has ruled since 1909. Through these million square miles of territory, ranging from desolate desert in the north to rich tropical farm lands in the south, flows the upper Nile.

"Pushed into a corner between the Sudan and Ethiopia, and cutting the latter off from the Red sea, is the Italian colony of Eritrea, scene of Italian troop concentrations.

"Massawa, the colony's principal port, is one of the hottest spots on earth. There are places where the maximum temperature is greater, but Massawa averages about 86 degrees all the year round. Back from the coastal lowlands, however, where the mountains rise toward Ethiopia, the climate is cool and temperate.

Gold in the Hills.

"Eritrea is about the same size as Pennsylvania, with a population of 620,000. The railroad from Massawa to Asmara, the capital, passes through pasture lands where nomad herdsmen tend sheep and cattle. In the hills gold is found and many crops are grown. In the lowlands hundreds of natives are employed in salt works, and divers along the coast gather pearls and mother-of-pearl.

"Commanding the narrow strait of Bab el Mandeb, where the Red sea meets the Indian ocean, is French Somaliland, tiny colony chiefly known as the ocean terminus of the railroad from Ethiopia's capital, Addis Ababa, to Djibouti.

"Midway of the strait is England's little island of Perim, and on the other side the British Protectorate of Aden. The chief city, Aden, is a free port, fortified, and one of the chief commercial towns of Arabia. Back from the sea stretches a wide, sandy plain with high mountains in the distance and little greenery to be seen.

"North of Aden on the Red sea's Arabian coast is Yemen, called an imamate because it is ruled by an imam. The outside world knows little of Yemen. Triangular in shape, with its base on the Red sea, it is twice the size of Indiana, and thrusts its apex back to the mysterious desert of inner Arabia.

Railway Sells for $35 Farm Which Cost $5,000

Worcester, Mass.—Twenty years ago the Grand Trunk railway bought a farm for $5,000 for a right of way. Recently the road sold the farm, over which a train ever passed, for $35.

Town Farm Auctioned

Douglas, Mass.—The old town farm was auctioned because there were only two suitable persons living there. The old Colonial-type farmhouse housed 16 persons.

SERVICES AT ALBANY AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

At the morning service at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church on Sunday, the pastor, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, spoke of the ministry of Dr. Johnston Myers of Chicago, whose recent death has evoked words of appreciation in press and radio. Dr. Johnston Myers had two pastorates, ten years in Cincinnati and forty years in Chicago, and did an outstanding work in ministering to the underprivileged. It was fifty years ago that he went out from this church into the work of the gospel ministry, and it was eminently fitting that some recognition of his splendid services in the cause of Christ should be made at this time. At the communion service the hand of fellowship was given to seven new members who were welcomed into the church.

On Thursday evening of this week, at 7:30, the annual roll-call meeting of the church will be held, and a large attendance of the members is expected. An interesting program will include reports, music, reception to new members, a social hour and refreshments.

ELECTION BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Cohasset, N. Y.—If William C. Marshall, 70, of this village, went to the polls today it was from the force of habit because for the first time in 50 years he may not vote. He is a native of England and unknown to any, he has never been a qualified voter despite regular trips to the polls for half a century.

Not until recently, when he transacted business with E. Ray Hardenbrook, county welfare commissioner, did he and election officials discover he was not entitled to vote. He immediately applied for his first papers.

Waverly, N. Y.—Voters in eight districts of the town of Barton registered their ballots today, unaware that Town Clerk Frank Lounsbury and a staff of printers had worked until dawn to rectify a mistake in the printed forms for machines.

Lounsbury late last night checked the slips that are placed over the levels of the voting machines and noticed the names of a Republican and Democrat had been left out of the four candidates for assessors.

Lavallette, N. J.—Maurice J. Horan, 59, Republican member of the borough's election board, died on his way to the borough hall today. Coroner William R. Borden said Horan suffered a heart attack.

Jersey City, N. J.—Governor Harold G. Hoffman denied in a final pre-election statement today that he plans to recommend "the sales tax, the income tax, or any other tax to the next legislature."

The statement was issued through Andrew O. Wittreich, Hudson County Republican County Committee chairman, who charged that about 400 men distributed circulars to commuters at every exit and entrance of Jersey City last night which stated the governor "plans an income tax."

Rochester, N. Y.—"Who stole our beer?" was a question today that troubled members of the Ninth Ward Democratic Club almost as much as the election. A barrel of beer and a cooler, intended for use at the club's "celebration" tonight, was taken by someone who crawled through a transom and unlocked the rear door.

Moffat Johnston Tribute

Westport, Conn., Nov. 5 (AP)—The stage, film and literary world joined today in paying final tribute to Moffat Johnston, Broadway actor, who died in a Norwalk hospital. Walter Hampden, Dorothy Gish and her sister, Lillian, were among those who came here for the funeral services in Christ Episcopal Church. Johnston died Sunday. The Rev. Harry Barrett, rector of the church, officiated, after which the body was taken to Greenburgh, N. Y., for cremation. Johnston, a native of Scotland, achieved fame on the stage, having been starred in Sean O'Casey's "Within the Gates," and "Twentieth Century."

EXCURSIONISTS TO VISIT WEST ALBANY SHOPS

The New York Central Railroad will run an excursion Sunday, November 17, which will feature a trip through the shops at West Albany and the freight yard and terminal at Selkirk. The train will leave the Grand Central station at 9 a. m. arriving at the West Albany shops at 12:30. Experienced guides will take excursionists through the shops and explain everything. A low fare will be charged.

Lawyer's Body Sought

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Police dragged the Potomac river today for the body of Charles H. Merillat, 70, prominent lawyer and a former city editor of the Washington Post. When he failed to return to his home last night, his wife began making inquiries. Later a hat and a coat believed to be Merillat's, were found on the Virginia bank of the Potomac, near Chain Bridge. Friends said the lawyer had been depressed by the death of a friend who shared an office suite with him. After leaving the post as city editor, Merillat joined the Washington bureau of The Associated Press. He took up the practice of law in 1905.

Yeggs Interrupted

Poquonock, Conn., Nov. 5 (AP)—Three yeggs tried to blow the safe in the postoffice here early today but were interrupted by Constable Arthur G. Wall, who exchanged gunfire with them as they fled. The authorities said everything was set to blow the safe. The combination had been knocked off, wires strung to batteries, and the charge put in place.

An unidentified sailor aboard the steamship Harihara, reportedly struck by a flying ventilator.

The storm ripped across sparsely settled saw-grass country and the Everglades to the gulf, inflicting little damage after leaving the east coast area.

Damage Reported.

High spots of reports from the affected areas:

Fort Lauderdale—Trees levelled, windows smashed and a few houses unroofed. Flood waters receded last night.

Dania—Several persons injured by flying debris. Airplane survey party found the area "hard hit." Horace Matthews, bridge tender, reported missing.

Hollywood—City Manager Frank C. Dickey said nine persons were injured and estimated damage to homes at $200,000. The Casino roof was ripped off.

Hialeah—Power lines severed. Race plant damaged.

Miami Beach—Cathanas of the Roney Plaza and Lencost Hotel, play spots of the wealthy, were smashed, boats whipped by the waves, board walk ripped up and seawall stones carried inland.

Miami—Storm damage to municipal property alone estimated by Public Service Director William Sadov at more than $100,000. Yacht docks were 50 per cent destroyed. Water-front wreckage swept two blocks into city. Thousands of homes and business houses were affected.

Coral Gables—Many trees and public utilities poles down.

Homestead—Trade events growers estimated the loss in avocado and citrus crops at nearly $500,000 and tomato damage at $25,000. Several frame school buildings were damaged.

Florence F. D. R. Jr.

Malden, Mass., Nov. 5 (AP)—A Republican woman judge, Mrs. Emma Fall Schoolfield of the Malden court, rendered a decision in favor of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. in a civil suit involving an automobile accident. Roosevelt was sued for $1,000 damages by Hyman Barlow of Malden, a bottle manufacturer, who alleged he was injured after his car and Roosevelt's collided on Essex and Kingston streets Malden April 26. The case was heard September 22 and the verdict was rendered by Judge Schoolfield yesterday.

3 Die, 2 Very Ill From Canned Corn

Scottsbluff, Neb., Nov. 5 (AP)—David Reizenstein, farmer, and his 13-year-old daughter, Martha, ill from Botulism which already has claimed the lives of three members of their family, were reported in a critical condition today.

Physicians believed home canned corn, taken from a glass jar with a tin lid, caused the poisoning.

Attendants at the hospital where the two were rushed yesterday after the deaths of three children in the family, said the girl's condition was grave, and that her father was only slightly less seriously ill.

To Visit Washington.

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Canada's newly elected prime minister, Mackenzie King, plans to come here Thursday to discuss a reciprocal trade agreement with President Roosevelt and state department officials. Negotiations were started some time ago, but were dropped during the recent Canadian campaign and elections. King is reported to be favorably inclined toward a new trade treaty.

Annual Fall Dinner

The menu of the Holy Cross annual fall dinner is as follows: Turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes, turnips, white boiled onions, cabbage salad, beef, cranberry sauce, celery, rolls, coffee and pie à la mode. The date is Tuesday, November 12, starting at 5:30 o'clock and continuing until all are served.

Farm Folk Take Up Studies.

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—Farm folk feel the need of a broader type of education, says Dr. C. Horace Hamilton, rural sociologist at the University of North Carolina, who finds they are becoming interested in economics, sociology, civics, child psychology and history as well as in technical agriculture and home-making.

May The Moderator's Record.

Lincolnton, Ga. (AP)—If W. A. Hogan of Lincolnton is elected a moderator of the Georgia Baptist Association next year, he will be a record set by the late Chancellor J. H. Wall of the University of Georgia. Mr. Hogan recently was elected for his 25th consecutive term. Dr. Wall served as moderator for 25 years.

National Bank Cull

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The comptroller of the currency issued a cull today for the redemption of all National Bank notes at the close of business Friday, Nov. 1.

INJURED IN FALL FROM TREE IN CEMETERY HERE

Stanley Durke, 21, of Glen Cove, L. I., was injured yesterday afternoon in a fall from a tree in Montrose cemetery where he was working as a tree surgeon. He was removed to the Kingston Hospital for treatment. This morning it was stated at the hospital that his injuries were not serious and he was expected to be able to leave the hospital today. He is under the care of Dr. D. S. Meyers.

New Era League.

The Women's New Era League of the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street will hold their regular monthly meeting Wednesday, November 6, at 2:30 p. m. Important executive meeting at 2 o'clock.

SACRED CONCERT AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

The fact that the organist and choir of St. John's Church, Robert D. Williams, and the full choir of men and boys will give a notable sacred concert on the evening of Sunday, November 24, will be good news to the music lovers of Kingston who are asked to take particular note of the date. The concert will begin at 8 o'clock. A silver offering will be taken and the choir will use the same to complete their pledge given for the special offering for the church earlier in the season.

No Council Tonight.

Owing to today being Election Day the Common Council will not hold its regular monthly meeting this evening, but will meet next Tuesday evening at the city hall.

Chicken Pie At Supper.

At the cafeteria supper to be served by the ladies of St. John's Episcopal Church at the Parish House on Albany avenue at the head of Tremper avenue on Thursday of this week from 5:30 to 7 o'clock the outstanding item of the menu will be chicken pie which was not inserted in the announcement of the supper in Tuesday evening's Freeman. Mrs. Phelps and Mrs. Rice will be in charge of the supper and there will be a table of useful and fancy articles for sale.

Mental Clinic Here November 15

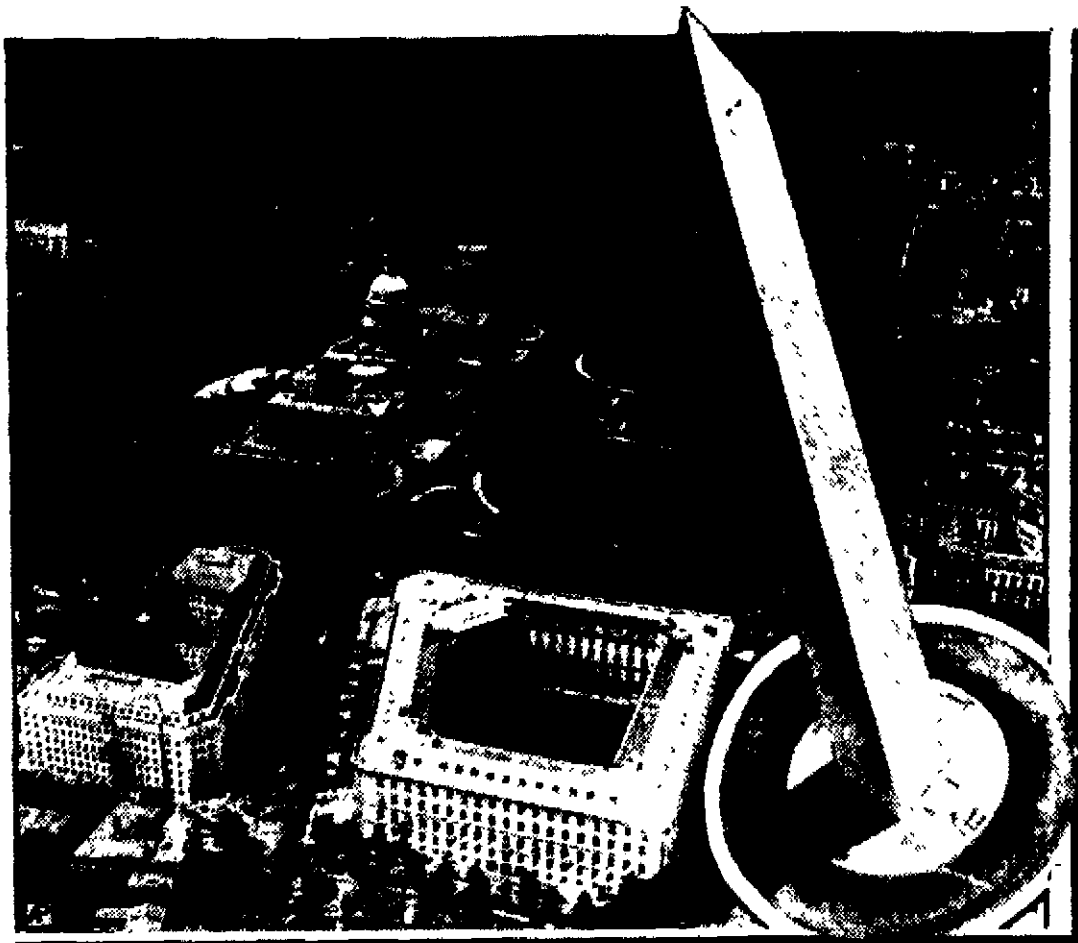

Friday, November 15, the mental clinic will be held at the Knights of Columbus Building, corner of Broadway and Andrew street, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

All patients on parole from the Middletown Hospital are requested to report to this clinic.

Free consultation and advice will be given to anyone who desires to talk with the physician about his own mental condition or that of a relative or friend.

During the first four months of 1935, Iowa was first in livestock income, followed by Illinois, Wisconsin and California.

Washington's A Fine City, If Any; Former Resident Doubts Its Entity

Whether Washington, D. C., is a distinct city or simply synonymous with the District of Columbia has given rise to speculation over the boundaries of the nation's capital.

Washington (AP)—Is Washington, with its fine new government buildings and its historic heritage, a legal entity or merely a "ghost city" hovering inside the district of Columbia?

An organization of the state of Washington requested recently that Washington, the national capital, change its name. Whereupon a former resident began investigating the city's legal status and after considerable research he said he could find no boundaries whatever for Washington, D. C., and that it seemed to him it didn't exist, legally.

Custom And Convenience
Postal and census bureau authorities gave the old common law of custom and convenience, plus long historical background, plus a few mentions in acts of congress as adequate basis for the name of a city whose status was admittedly peculiar. Still, to the curious former resident, it was a pretty kettle of fish. The federal government's own authority on the naming of Washington, a book by William Tindall, says the city and the District of Columbia were named simultaneously by the commission which originally selected the site.

Congress Skipped Definition
"The boundaries of the City of Washington were never specifically defined by acts of congress," was Tindall's conclusion, in so many words. As for government, Washington was incorporated in 1802, its government continuing until 1871 when congress revoked charters of Washington and Georgetown, establishing instead a single municipality government specifically named the District of Columbia. This act, however, provided: "That portion of the district included within the present limits of the City of Washington shall continue to be known as the City of Washington."

Georgetown Added In 1895
By act of congress, February 11, 1895, Georgetown was made a part of this indefinite City of Washington, the boundaries then becoming known, but it is estimated by the survivors to contain 543 acres—so Washington wasn't alone in its vagueness.

The dual names for exactly the same territory are handy for the census bureau—they can call it Washington in comparison of cities, and District of Columbia in comparisons of states.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

Apostle Paul to Vote

New York—The arguments and chants were too much for the election board, which finally ruled the followers of "Father" Divine, Harlem "Messiah," could vote if they would register their former names as well as their "kingdom" appellations.

So on the books for today's election went:

Lovellness Rest
Sweet Determination.
Noah Endurance
Gracious New Haven.
Apostle Paul

Third Will Be Delayed

Berlin, Conn.—John Krause was struck twice by automobiles within an hour. The first time a physician gave him first aid and sent him home. The second time his leg was fractured and he was taken to a hospital.

Ski Service

New York—There's scant excuse in New York for not skiing this winter.

A big department store has opened a slide where customers may practice or take lessons from professional skiers. Sking maps and weather reports will be available weekly.

The railroads will run "know trains" to the sking country, and lessons may be continued on the trains and after arrival.

Anaesthetic

Beloit, Wis.—Miss Dorothy Moore, a stenographer in the city school superintendent's office, heard a noise in her waste basket and investigated. It was a mouse. Startled, she spilled a bottle of typewriter cleaning fluid into the basket. The fumes overcame the mouse.

Bus Wedding

Des Moines—Lyle Higgins and Winnifred Dickey were about to be married, but before the Rev. J. E. Habington, of Norwalk, Iowa, read the vows he noticed the license was issued in Polk county, just across the Warren county line where the ceremony was to be held. The minister explained the marriage would be illegal in Warren county.

The wedding party boarded a school bus, drove across the county line where the marriage ritual was spoken in the bus, and returned home to celebrate.

WEST PARK

West Park, Nov. 4.—An historical marker was placed at the Ascension Church by the state. The marker will be dedicated on Thanksgiving Day. This church was built in 1842. The time of the dedication will be announced later. The public is cordially invited to attend.

A party for the Ascension Church Sunday School was held in the parish house on November 2. There were 19 Sunday School children present. Games were played and prizes were given. The Rev. Mr. Ackerson showed moving pictures of Mickey Mouse, Pop-Eye, Ole King Cole, Felix-the-Cat and Mother Goose. Rhythms in character, ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Charles Osberg and Mrs. T. Osborn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miller of Wilmette have returned from a month's trip to the state of Iowa. A card party will be held in the Ascension parish house on November 15 at 8 p. m. under the auspices of Mrs. Charles Osberg, Mrs. Alice DuMont and Mrs. Arthur Loren LeFevre. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded. The public is most cordially invited to attend.

MILTON

Milton, Nov. 5.—Prof. Oskamp of Cornell University was in town last week visiting farms of members of the Ulster County Farm Bureau. Prof. Oskamp visits farms whose owners have requested him to make a chemical test and analysis of the soil to determine whether the ground is suitable for apple growing. These tests are of great value as very often the ground is not adaptable to the fruit growing on it. He also sounds the land to find out whether it is composed of hard pan, rock or sand. There are no extra charges for these tests to Farm Bureau members.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church, Milton, was entertained at the home of Mrs. William Donaldson Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Curtis Northrup assistant hostess. The November meeting will be held one week earlier on account of Thanksgiving Day. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. W. Davison Friday, November 22.

Edgar M. Clarke and C. Kenneth Taber attended the meeting of the New York Federation of Farm Bureaus at the broadcasting studio both to hear and see Secretary Wallace Friday evening at Schenectady. They were representatives from this district.

Mrs. Edward Young, Sr., will be one of the speakers at the meeting of the 16th annual meeting of the New York State Federation of Home Bureaus in Syracuse November 12 to 14. Mrs. Young is a director and past president of the State Home Bureau Federation. The state public speaking contest is a feature of the program on Tuesday, November 12. The winner will be eligible to enter a national public speaking contest. On November 13 the annual banquet is held under the auspices of the Federation of Farm Bureaus, the Home Bureau and the Junior Extension.

The 4-H Girls' Club will meet Tuesday evening, November 12, at the home of Mr. Edgar Clarke. Twelve or more ladies met with Mrs. Fred Bond Tuesday evening for instruction in Swedish weaving, a Home Bureau project.

The Ladies' Needlecraft and Women's Missionary Societies will meet at the home of Mrs. Adelaide Wilke Wednesday afternoon, November 6. A Halloween social was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Birdsell S. Taber Saturday evening. The Misses Helen Kent, Miriam Sears and Eleanor Young of the Presbyterian church choir had charge of the program. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all who attended. Games were played and refreshments were served.

A number of steamboats of the Hudson River Night Line purchased early in the summer by Samuel Rosoff are lying in the drydock at the Rosoff sand and gravel bank, Marlborough, for repairs. It is reported that about 40 men are being employed in reconditioning the boats. They are being quartered on board the boats. One of the steamers at the dock is the Trojan. Twelve children were present for the Story Hour held Wednesday afternoon in the library building in observance of National Book Week. Miss Rose Pantusco, assistant librarian, was the reader. Other story hours will be held in the near future.

The Marlborough Lions Club held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Blossom Inn, Milton. The members enjoyed several solos rendered by Fred Bond. The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, November 12.

A three-act play, entitled "A Colonial Halloween," was presented by pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the Sands avenue schoolhouse Wednesday evening. The stage was set to represent a log cabin of Mr. Radford in a settlement of New England in Colonial days. The cast of characters was as follows: Father Radford, Howard Vandemark; Mother, Mrs. Radford, Edith Anderson; John, David Bell; Priscilla, Lena Lawton; Beth, Jean Diorio; Allen, Ralph McQuid; Indian Chief, Hug Bear; Michael Paccione, Neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ward, Virginia Hallock and William Donaldson. Those who arranged and had charge of the play were Rachel Casaburo, Marion Vandemark, Shirley Gilbert and Mary Sears.

At the Halloween social held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Birdsell S. Taber Saturday evening the children wore different kinds of masks and costumes. The following judges were appointed to decide who wore the best costume: Mrs. Elsie Hallock, Mrs. William R. Ordway and Thomas Bailey. John Bell wore the best costume among the boys, being attired to represent a black cat. Among the girls the best costume was won by Mary Theill. The children enjoyed themselves and had a very pleasant evening.

Eventide song service was held at the Methodist Church Sunday evening. William Donaldson conducted the service.

Miss Mary Conroy, Miss Ethel Collins and brother, William, were recent visitors at the home of Miss Lucretia Fraleigh in Red Hook.

Charles Barrett, Michael Conroy and Fred Theill spent the week-end deer hunting in Sullivan county.

The Central School District Board of Education has held only one meeting last week, which was held Wednesday evening in the Marlborough school. The president, Edgar M. Clarke, presided. Edward McGowan, Claude Hepworth and Calvin Staples, board members, were present. John F. Kramer was unavoidably absent. The clerk, Mrs. William Plank, and Attorney John Lusk were also present. Various matters in regard to options on property, contracts with architects, PWA requirements of the state departments of education, etc., were discussed. November 26 was set as the date for the meeting of the district at which bond issues for two school buildings and a site for the town high school will be voted upon. Calvin Staples was appointed a committee of one to consult with Gerard Betz, architect, for the high school building, and arrange the digging of test holes on the Young property so that contractors can properly prepare bids for the foundation and excavation.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ATTEND PRESS CONFERENCE

The staff and reporters of the Kingston High School newspaper, Dame Rumor, traveled to Liberty Saturday morning to attend the Duso press conference. Monticello and Liberty also had representatives.

The business meeting, which was the first item on the program, adjourned following the selection of Kingston as the place for the spring conference. The delegates then proceeded to the dining room for luncheon. Following the luncheon, Mr. Brown, faculty advisor of the Liberty school paper, the Comment, introduced the two speakers. The initial speaker was Mr. Panpker, principal of Liberty High, who gave a short but interesting talk on the short articles which are found in school papers. Mr. Panpker commented on the so-called "mud-slinging" in county and country politics, which, in his belief, should be entirely eliminated in the coming election. The next speaker was the editor of the Liberty Gazette, Mr. Sprague. The editor, in his reporter's opinion, gave an immense amount of profitable advice to the young journalists. Mr. Sprague laid emphasis on the photos that should be included in the school newspapers, saying that they "give a better view of the story or article."

Following the conference the representatives were entertained at the Monticello-Liberty football game.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Nov. 5.—The rainy weather presented ideal conditions for still hunting as the deer season opened Friday. Clayton Burgher, long regarded as a successful hunter and expert rifle shot, downed a 180-pound buck Friday morning. Thus far hunters report a notable scarcity among the formerly plentiful quarry inhabiting the hunting grounds in this locality.

A Halloween party was held by Mrs. West and the West Shokan school children Thursday afternoon. There was a variety of festive and spooky games together with refreshments which made for a decidedly enjoyable affair. About the community where last year Halloween mischief caused much comment all was peace and calm throughout the evening.

Mrs. Viola Markle has returned to her home at the parsonage after spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Markle at Shokan.

Chester Lyons, Ashokan Chevrolet dealer, has already sold one of the just received 1935 models. The purchase was made by Cecil Gray of Olive Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jordan, Jr., of Ithaca were visitors here on Saturday. Mr. Jordan has for several years been connected in a responsible business capacity with Cornell University, of which he is an honor graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley And of Cuba, N. Y., also Mrs. Blanche Beaudry and son, Julius, of Long Island City, are among hunting season guests at Maple Dell Farm.

Miss Bertha Merrill visited friends here Sunday afternoon. Miss Merrill, whose home is at Brown Station Heights, is teaching a Sullivan county school this season.

Lawrence Kelder of East Orange, N. J., with an accompanying friend, are here on the annual deer season vacation, observed annually by Mr. Kelder.

Martin J. Every of Traver Hollow made delivery Monday morning of 400 pounds of dressed turkeys, for the serving of the annual Election Day turkey supper by the Fair Street Reformed Church in Kingston. Mr. Every supplied the order similarly last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Condon of Palisville visited Mrs. Sheppard Bell at the parsonage on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Every of Kingston spent Friday and Saturday with his parents at the Traver Hollow home.

Mrs. Rachel Kerr and daughter Jennie, of Watson Hollow, recently enjoyed a motor trip to the western part of New York state.

Walter Wells and Roy Paley, one-year veteran members of the C. C. Camp in Peekskill, were home over the week-end.

Members of the West Shokan Sunday School marked up a goodly attendance at the study class service Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Bertha Thompson, superintendent, was capably in charge. The time of Sunday School is 1 o'clock, held every Sunday.

Several friends have recently received cards mailed from Rochester, New York, by H. Carlton Locke, the well known Samsonville aviator sportsman. Mr. Locke and his dog are pictured standing alongside his venerable yet spick and span 1913 Ford touring car, bearing a sign extending across the back of the folded down top. At the time Mr. Locke was en route to the U. S. Museum in Washington, D. C., where the car would be placed on exhibition. Mr. Locke stated that his pet car was driven on October 23 from Samsonville to Rochester, a distance of 278 miles, in 10 hours' running time. The engine purred merrily at a speed of 33 miles per hour most of the time and made 17 miles per gallon of gas. Upon arriving there the speedometer read 52,337. Mr. Locke, who travels about the country extensively, is a nephew of John Locke, who for many years conducted a general store in Olive City before the building of the Ashokan reservoir. He is a son of Harvey Locke.

Parent-Teacher Conferences

The Orange County P. T. A. Conference was held on Saturday, November 2, at the Highland Falls High School. Mrs. George S. Nichols of Highland Falls, the Orange county director, presided.

Among the speakers were the newly appointed director of the Central Hudson District, Mrs. Harry E. McCormick of Cornwall, Principal O'Neill of the Highland Falls High School, Miss Phoebe Bull, supervisor of the Orange County Public Health Nurses, Mrs. D. D. Lardin of Cornwall, district program chairman, and Mrs. W. R. Anderson of Kingston, district publicity chairman.

A "Publicity Skit" used at Cornell Institute was given, there was a panel discussion on P. T. A. affairs and a symposium of the state convention held at Buffalo, also an "Executive Committee Meeting Skit," besides the reports of the 40 units in the county. Luncheon was served in the high school cafeteria.

Sullivan County Conference was held at Jeffersonville on October 19 with Mrs. Harry Weber of Jeffersonville, the Sullivan county director, presiding.

Among the speakers were the district director, Mrs. H. E. McCormick of Cornwall, the district safety chairman, Mrs. Harry Simmons of Newburgh, Charles S. Hick, district superintendent of schools, principal E. L. Baker of the local high school, and principal C. A. Mider of the Youngville school. The local school band rendered several selections.

The Ulster County Conference will be held on Wednesday, November 13, in the Saugerties Methodist Church. The newly appointed Ulster county director, Mrs. Lewis Fellows of Saugerties, will preside.

TIPS ON CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL

Gulls

Squeeze plays are effective against good defense only when there is a certain entry from the hand containing the long suit to the other hand of the contracting partnership.

Against players who follow the cards and count at all it is futile for the declarer to run his long suit in the hope that the defenders will discard in such fashion that side cards in the declarer's hand will become winners.

A real squeeze requires that either or both defenders must have to protect two suits. If there is no entry from the declarer's hand to the faced hand it is easy for the defenders to deduce what the declarer has left in his hand and to discard accordingly.

But supposing the defenders think there is an entry? Then a pseudo squeeze may be effective at times against players who know the mechanics of a real squeeze. For instance:

Today's Cable Briefs By Associated Press

Rio De Janeiro—A crew of four was killed when French postal plane No. 28 crashed at Atalaya Beach between the Brazilian cities of Bahia and Aracaju. It was announced today by air force, French International Aviation Line.

The plane, which carried mail to Buenos Aires, Porto Alegre, Rio de Janeiro and Bahia, was destroyed but 17 bags of mail were salvaged.

Leningrad—Discovery of six new islands in the Kara Sea were reported today by a Soviet expedition studying the Northern Sea route which connects Europe with the Far East via the Arctic. The islands are due north of the Ural region of the Soviet Union. The expedition members reported, and were described as rich in coal deposits.

Paris—Application of sanctions forbidding commercial credit to Italy began in France today with publication of a notice in the Official Journal advising merchants and manufacturers to sell in Italy only for cash.

Toronto—An exiled Spanish Prince and his bride, unperturbed by the theft of $7,500 in jewels from their hotel suite, traveled to Niagara Falls on their honeymoon today. Prince Juan, heir presumptive to the Spanish throne, and his bride, the former Maria of Bourbon-Sicily, said virtually all the stolen property was covered by insurance.

Moscow—Russia again has asked the Japanese government to discuss officially a border patrol clash between Soviet and Japanese-Manchukuo soldiers last month. The Soviet ambassador delivered a second note to the Japanese foreign office repeating an offer to set up a mixed commission to investigate the incident. Prolonged discussion "must elicit an influence on relations between the U. S. S. R. and Japan," said the note.

Mexico, D. F.—Mexico was ready today to invoke sanctions voted by the League of Nations against Italy. While the move is not expected seriously to affect Mexico's economic outlook, Foreign Minister Jose Centeno declared the sanctions would have been applied even in the face of possible greater commercial loss.

London—The Press Association reported today that a wreck located by the salvage vessel Orpheus off the head of Kinsale on the Irish Coast has been definitely identified as the Lusitania, torpedoed by a German submarine during the World War. The Orpheus has been at work since early in the summer attempting to locate the Lusitania.

Bournemouth, Eng.—The Earl of Chesterfield died today at the age of 89 years. He was born Henry Arthur Scudamore-Stanhope and became the eleventh Earl of Chesterfield, succeeding his brother, the tenth Earl, who died in 1922.

Sergeant John O'Hara of the CCC camp at Belleville reports that a bull dog deer was shot near the outdoor home of Dr. Van Wageningen at Belton Sunday morning. Deputy Sheriff DeWitt of Belleville was notified. He got the deer and turned it over to the conservation office in Kingston for disposal.

ST. RENE

St. Rene, Nov. 5.—The Ladies Aid and Missionary Society will hold the November meeting in the Sunday school room of the church on Thursday, at 2:30 p. m. The business will be Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Gerritsen and Mrs. McGowan. New members and visitors always are welcome. The topic will be "Indians".

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Nov. 5.—Halloween night, Mrs. Ella W. Church, teacher of The Clove School, together with her pupils, held an entertainment in The Clove chapel. The program consisted of an address of welcome by Iona Purcell, and a play entitled, "The Scare Crow," by six pupils.

Farmer Jenkins, Walter Smith, Four School Children, Edna Countryman, Carol Johnson, Carlyle Temple, Arnold Van Laer, the Scare Crow, Burtram Johnson. Halloween recitation, Natalie Van Laer. A good health program, Vera Johnson, George Diamond, Gertrude Shade, Natalie Van Laer and Jessie Temple. A Jack o' Lantern drill by ten pupils with pumpkin lanterns. Following the program the Rev. Clarence Howard conducted a series of games enjoyed by everyone present. The parents of the school children furnished refreshments for the 60 people present, consisting of sandwiches, coffee and cocoa. There were a number of visitors among whom were a number of former Clove school pupils, who assisted in the serving.

A Bell of High Falls has charge of the rural delivery route in The Clove and Rock Hill section, while Mr. Arnold Van Laer is enjoying a few days vacation hunting in the Adirondacks.

The residents of The Clove were greatly surprised last month in receiving a visit from a real bear. It has been reported that he has also been seen near Lake Mohonk.

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Society of High Falls was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Snyder Thursday afternoon, October 31. The first part of the program was devoted to a report given by the members who attended the Missionary Union of the Classis of Ulster county held in the Reformed Church of New Paltz October 10. The special feature of the meeting was a surprise for Mrs. Clarence Howard.

Refreshments consisting of tea, cookies and a real Halloween cake were served by the hostess, Mrs. Howard was given the honor of cutting the cake which was enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Snyder gave each of the 11 members present a copy of the 1935-1936 calendar published by the Board of Domestic Missions as a souvenir of the day.

Miss Louise D. Van Wageningen called on her aunt, Miss Mary C. Van Wageningen on Sunday afternoon and stayed for supper.

Mrs. J. M. Barnhart of Kingston spent the night with her sister, Miss Jessie Snyder at Locust Hill Cottage on Sunday.

The Ladies Aid Society will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stanley Stern.

The Rev. Mr. Kalemnjian of the Reformed Church of Kerhonkson delivered the sermon in the High Falls Reformed Church on Sunday. Mr. Kalemnjian has had a very close connection with the Near East situation and has witnessed the persecution of the Turks in Armenia. There were quite a number present at the service which was a most interesting one. The special musical numbers were the junior anthem, "Looking Upward Every Day," and the offertory solo, "Come Into Me," rendered by Mrs. E. Muller.

Mrs. E. Muller of Stony Ridge submitted for Mrs. E. Jansen the past Thursday and Friday, as Mrs. Jansen was confined to her home with the mumps.

Spencer Bain of Greenwich, Conn., spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tormann of Woodbury, N. J., spent the weekend at the Racket house.

A number from this place have received cards from Mrs. Fannie Elmslander, who when heard from last winter, Mrs. Fouse was visiting friends in Ohio.

Word has been received of the recovery after accidents causing the death of Arnold Van Laer's sister-in-law. His brother is also ill in the hospital.

The Tale of a Ten-Dollar Bill
I had a new ten-dollar bill in which I took great pride. It looked so beautifully big, so crisp, long and wide. I had it once, now it is gone; I bought a brand-new hat. And got in change a five, two ones, and dirty bills at that. Each husband knows how that five went for shoes and other things. And how the "ones" I got in change departed as on wings. They flew away, these lesser notes, in spite of my lament. And all that's left now of that ten resembles thirty cents. —Massachusetts Mike

A young lady says that, while late hours may not be good for one, they certainly can be made very enjoyable for two.

Hoeecake—Nigger, who's de mostest cross-eyed pusion yo' ebber seed? Gingersnap—Ole Deacon Possum-grease. Dat nigger can see a fly on each ear. Who's de mostest cross-eyed pusion yo' ebber seed?

Hoeecake—Ma brudder-see-law, Gatorbait. Dat nigger's so cross-eyed he doan need but one glass see his spectacles.

Another reason why we should see to it that our children are well prepared for life, is that they may be able to shoulder the debt we are going to leave them.

Wife—Don't you realize how much your life means to me?
Hubby—Sure; if I die you get my insurance.

Editing a paper without ruffling anybody's feelings, observes our Editor, is like fishing without a hook on your line—you get lots of recreation but no results.

Rules for a Successful Marriage Life
Respect and trust your spouse.
Forgive and be tolerant. Try to understand.
Follow the path the church points to marital contentment.
Run your home on a 50-50 basis. Let there be no depot.
Do not make odious comparisons to your mate's disadvantage.
Let each quarrel be a new one, not yesterday's hashed over.
Realize the full obligation of raising children. They require love, support and sacrifice.
Remember that you have sworn to love, honor and cherish in sickness and in health.
Remember you marry the entire family, not just your mate. Take advice from your in-laws as from your parents.
Parents and parents-in-law, of course, have a large obligation to mind their own business, to be helpful but not bossy, to be friendly and affectionate but not clinging leeches.

Woman—Did I ever tell you about my operation?
Friend—No, and I never told you about mine. We're quits.

The middle class is the one that never in making a complaint starts in with the words, "We demand."

Mr. Meek—Darling, haven't I always given you my salary check the first of every month?
Mrs. Meek—Yes, but you never told me you got paid twice a month—you low-down, unprincipled embezzler!

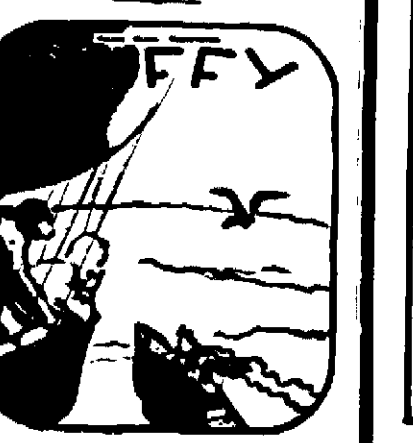

The past looks a lot happier to us than it felt then.

Miss Smith—Really, Mr. Jones, there is no valid excuse you can give for kissing me, not even any mistake.

Mr. Jones—Oh, that's all right! You can't blame our host for wanting to cut down overhead expenses.

U. S. Test Case
Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—Administration officials said today the Supreme Court decision on the right of the government to condemn land for low cost housing—one of the four New Deal tests now pending—would have little effect on the $160,000,000 now being spent for such construction. While the court's ruling may have a controlling influence on future slum clearance programs, officials said, 52 of the 53 projects now contemplated can go ahead even in the face of an adverse decision. The point at issue in the housing case is whether the government can use its power of eminent domain to take property for low cost housing or slum clearance projects. The test case is holding up work on a $1,415,000 project in Louisville, Ky.

McGrady Sees Toledo Peace Plan As Cure For 'Mental Astigmatism'

Out of the avalanche of strikes that swept across northern Ohio in the last two years, was born the Toledo Peace Plan, sponsored by Edward F. McGrady, left, of the federal department of labor. It takes its name from the city that experienced some of the worst of the strikes. During the Electric Auto-Lite strike in 1934, it was this battle between workers and employers that demonstrated the necessity for some form of mediation in disputes and started investigation of ways and means from which, nearly a year later, emerged the Toledo industrial peace plan.

Toledo, Ohio (AP)—Out of the multiplicity of strikes that have swept over northern Ohio in the last two years emerged the Toledo industrial peace plan.

Four times since it was conceived and organized in June by Edward F. McGrady, No. 1 strike mediator of the department of labor, it has been tested.

In all four tests it has come off with quiet, non-spectacular victories that stand out in contrast with the frenzied jostling of crowds, shouting of epithets, and hurling of missiles outside strike-beset industrial plants.

Too Close to Issues
Leaders of 27 cities have written McGrady, asking "What is this Toledo plan? How does it work and why does it work?"

To the last question McGrady replies, "It cures mental astigmatism." A term he likes to apply to muddled thinking.

"Negotiators in strikes get too close to the issues," he said. "They need help from the outside: dispassionate counsel of those who see the good and the problems of the community as a whole above the differences of a comparative few."

Across northern Ohio at least 550 strikes had broken out in a wide variety of industries and communities between September, 1933, and July, 1935.

Ralph A. Lind, executive secretary of the National Regional Labor Board in Cleveland, said that not more than 40 of these strikes occurred in Toledo. Three of these 40, however, were so spectacular they focused national attention on Toledo.

The Electric Auto-Lite strike which dragged from April 12 to June 24, 1934, was marked by violence which led to deaths of two men and the wounding of two officers and 15 soldiers of the Ohio National Guard.

Other Strikes
A year later—April 23, 1935—the United Automobile Workers Union called a strike which led to the closing of the Chevrolet Motor Co. plant, where 2,340 men were listed as employees. A week later the Fisher Body Co. plant in Cleveland, where 9,000 were employed, shut down. The dispute was not settled until May 15.

Six weeks later the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers called a strike in the Toledo Edison Co. It appeared for a time Toledo's industries would be paralyzed by a shutdown of power.

A permanent panel of eight non-partisan members was set up. Two panels of five each, one representing labor and one industry which might vary in personnel as new situations arose, also were organized.

Lind Named Chairman
McGrady selected Lind chairman. Lind, since January, 1933, had participated in approximately 1,000 labor disputes, most of which did not reach the strike stage.

"In the event of a deadlock or threatened strike or lockout the chairman calls in representatives of each panel individually," McGrady said. "They state their cases. The chairman then calls all three together. In four cases out of five, an agreement will result that will prevent a costly strike."

"There's going to be plenty of need for this plan or something similar," said McGrady. "I believe there will be many more strikes. History shows that when the nation is coming out of a depression, labor tries to get back what it has lost, and industry tries to regain what it has lost."

to have the trucks loaded inside the building, which will immediately be insulated with Johns Manville sound elimination material.

Furthermore, the Dairyman's League and their attorney assure the people that from now on, the delivery work will all be done in the daytime, thus eliminating all night disturbance of arriving and departing trucks.

This is a matter that the Board of Health, the Committee on Sound Elimination in Kingston and Mayor Heiselman have been actively interested in and all appreciate the cooperation of the Dairyman's League in relieving the distressing situation that has obtained on Prospect Street all these weeks.

Glens Falls, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Seven Indian Lake hunters, charged with sharing in the proceeds of the $35 sale of a deer carcass, have paid fines and made settlements totalling $87.50, Morgan B. Leland, district conservation department inspector, announced yesterday.

The seven men, apprehended by Game Protector J. H. Farrell at Indian Lake are: Vernon Hall, 18; Otto Hall, 21; Wallace Turner, 25; Leslie Turner, 16; Rodney Pelon, 20; Gerald Parker, 18 and James Behn.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Elmer May Brown, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown, of Beacon was dead today because she played in the bed of a creek from which the water was drained during repairs to a dam. She drowned as the water was turned on and swept over her. Dr. Howard P. Carpenter issued a verdict of accidental drowning.

Catskill, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Peter Reynolds, 33, Westkill, N. Y., was killed early today when an automobile driven by his brother, John, crashed into a steel bridge.

Lexington, The brother and Paul C. Bergman of Stamford, N. Y., were brought to a Catskill hospital where it was said their condition was serious. Reynolds is survived by his widow and three children.

Sodium Lights Conquer Fogs on Pacific Coast

Olympia, Wash.—Dense fog vapors that choke arterial highways in definite fog belts of the state of Washington may be conquered if a state sponsored experiment proves successful.

Installation of sodium vapor lights, designed for fog penetration, will be made on the new Pacific highway cut-off south of Tacoma. The four mile stretch is reputed to be one of the worst fog spots along the Pacific highway. The lights will be placed and the system completed within 60 days. Extensive use of the lights was in prospect should the experiment justify the expense.

Estimate Water Supply by "Weighing" Snowfall

Mountain snow packs of the West are "weighed" each winter to forecast their springtime runoff for irrigation water conservation and power projects.

Developed as a result of a classical professor's love for winter outings in the Sierra Nevada, snow surveying has grown to such an exact science that the flow of rivers and streams in the spring can be calculated to within 10 per cent or better.

In itself, the surveying is comparatively simple, but dangerous work. Samples of snow are taken along "snow courses" selected as typical of the snow fall. The surveyors must follow difficult mountain routes at high elevation under arduous winter conditions. The only shelter available is provided by cabins built along the route.

Foundations for the science of snow surveying were laid by Dr. J. E. Church, of the University of Nevada, when he was professor of the classics many years ago. His interest in mountain climbing in winter led him to speculation about the snow and eventually to the development of a method of measuring it.

On The Radio Day By Day

Time is Eastern Standard.

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Another broadcast from Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia, by the Emperor Haile Selassie, is being inserted in the WABC-CBS list for Wednesday. Selassie is to talk just before leaving for the front.

The Emperor will be introduced by Josef Iarnala II of New York, who is now in Ethiopia. The broadcast takes the place of the talk originally scheduled from Addis Ababa by Robinson Maclean, Toronto newspaperman. Because Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, will be unable to do so, the conclusion of the series on "Our Foreign Policy" via WABC-CBS Wednesday will be by the assistant secretary, William Phillips.

Also placed on the Wednesday afternoon CBS programs at 3:45 is a concert from Queen's Hall, London, by Josef Hoffmann, noted pianist, and the BBC Symphony Orchestra.

New Tennis Costume

Shorts and an abbreviated polo shirt make up this quaint tennis costume, being worn by Paulette Goddard, leading lady for Charlie Chaplin. She is shown on a Holly-wood court. (Associated Press Photo)

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Screen personal-ities sometimes work their way into the lingo of the studios. The other day a movie director was heard to tell his star, "All right, this next is a Dietrich." He meant, of course, that the next scene would be a close-up, Marlene's pictures always having been filled with close-ups of Marlene.

"Doing a Garbo" is almost un-derstandable slang for hiding away from public view. In the picture world it means an attempt to emulate the elusive Greta. Applied to a lesser star, it is another name for "temperament."

A "Lupe" means a close-up taken in profile, because John's fondness for profile photography is a legend. One of the types of lights used on a movie set is known to this day as a "Lupe," and some electricians don't know why. But it got its name from Lupe Velez. "The explanation of Mexico's Lupe being that peppy."

In Hollywood, and maybe elsewhere, any overly ornate dwelling or public hall is designated as a "DeMille set," because, of course, C. B. always has been lavish. And any sunken bathtub is a "DeMille." (When more elaborate plumbing is devised, C. B. will devise it.)

Bill's Own Word
And Bill Robinson, the Negro dancer, has a letter from a dictionary publisher seeking information about the word "copesetic." This is Bill's own word, and the publisher wants to find out exactly what it means, whence it is derived. Bill says it means "Okay," has no derivation, that he invented it and has been using it since he was seven years old.

Jeannette MacDonald isn't sure about singing before breakfast, but she always gets up early and prac-tices before she does any screen recording. It puts her voice in shape for the first "take," she says.

Preston Foster is playing a scene in which his eyes, supposedly in-jured, are bandaged. The bandage-maker left a little chest-hole, but Foster keeps his eyes closed any-way while he makes the scene. "If I'm supposed to be blind, why see anything?"

The Jane Withers household has moved from its former bungalow court residence to a house in the hills. Too many fans kept calling, at all hours, to permit any household routine. Said Mrs. Withers, "We loved having them, and always try to be nice to any one who is inter-ested enough in Jane to pay us a call, but some of them would come at such inconvenient hours, so we simply had to get away."

Incidentally, Jane is something of a "brat" again in "Gentle Julia," the Booth Tarkenton story.

Will Cover Silver Tea.
The Sewing Circle of Emmanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street will serve a silver tea in the parish hall Wednesday afternoon, November 6, at 2:30. A variety program, consisting of a brief comedy sketch, vocal and instrumental numbers, will be pre-sented before the tea.

Drivers who regard streets and highways as the Indianapolis bowl, might be divided into two classes. First, those who are weary of living and don't mind if they take innocent parties along with them into eternity. Second, those who are so stupid as to not realize that several thousand pounds of metal moving at terrific speeds is as lethal a weapon as a machine-gun—both for the oc-cupant and for anyone else who happens to be in the locality.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "I Live My Life." Mrs. Franchot Tone, known to the screen as Joan Crawford, lives a lively life as the star of this sophis-ticated yarn, the tale of a rich girl whose every wish is gratified until she runs into a young man, an ar-chaeologist, who is more interested in antiquities than modern feminine beauty, and it takes all Miss Craw-ford's skill to arouse him to the joys of romance. There will be found some skillful dialogue in this comedy and everybody seems to have a lot of fun in their assignments. Fol-lowers of Miss Crawford will find the glamour girl nicely cast in this show and the settings, as always, are mod-els of modernity and luxury. Brian Aherne proves an engaging lover and the work of Frank Morgan and Aline MacMahon is a standout part of the film.

Orpheum: "The Mystery of Ed-win Drood." Dickens' novel is adapted to the screen as a horror story and it becomes pretty desper-ate entertainment as it tells how an older man commits murder for the love of a young and pretty woman who refuses his love. The element of mystery is well maintained and the work of Claude Rains is excel-lent. Douglas Montgomery is also well cast and the settings and general atmosphere for a tale of this nature is exceptionally good. Selected short offerings complete the program.

Kingston: "Texas Vodeling Cow-boys" on the stage and "This is the Life" on the screen. Doc Schneider's original Texas Cowboys of the NBC network system with such performers as May Lewis, Doc Schneider, Doy O'Dell, May Rainey, Deacon Thomas, Otis Clements and a host of other entertainers, will be seen on the Kingston stage in a singing, sharp-shooting, comedy presentation that will prove both enjoyable and un-usual to local audiences. "This is the Life" brings little Jane With-ers in her latest picture, the story of a little celebrity who grows tired of fame and riches and who yearns to be like an ordinary child. Miss Withers performs in satisfactory fashion and the laughs are numer-ous. John McGuire is in the sup-porting cast.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "The Gay Deception." Just as the title describes, this is a gay tale of a Graustarkian decep-tion, and before the last foot of film has been run, it will occur to al-most any audience that here is a grand bit of footery as well construct-ed and offered that it becomes a de-cided hit picture. Francis Lederer, who has been no storm of drama-tic in his past performance, finally is handed a role that fits him perfectly for he has the role of a prince who is working as a bellhop in a great American hotel, into the action comes Frances Dee, a former stenog-rapher richer by an inheritance of $5,000, and Miss Dee is out to make the bright lights brighter. The princely bellhop and the girl becom-ing up to one another and go through all manner of situations be-fore love triumphs over all. Alive with snappy dialogue, actions that pans society snob, and a fine musical score, this show is certain to be the most exciting movie-goer. Benita Hume, Alan Moray, Lantia Lane, Paul Hurst, Louis Alber, Barbara Fritchie and Ferdinand Gottschalk are featured. William Wyler di-rected and the entire production is under the banner of Twentieth Cen-tury pictures.

Orpheum: "The Devil is a Wo-man." Paramount's Marlene Diet-rich has a tough time in this pro-duction that is taken from the novel, "The Woman and the Puppet," by Pierre Loays. The screen adapta-tion becomes a series of camera studies of the star for Joseph Von Sternberg directed the vehicle and his famous attention to detail and lighting slows up the action com-pletely. Cesar Romero, Edward Everett Horton and Lionel Atwill are all in the cast but have little to do. "Adventures Knights" is an added feature with Our Gang.

Kingston: Same.
It doesn't take any intellectual capacity to hang onto the steering wheel, give her the gun, and see if you can make the speedometer touch ninety-odd. In other words, you don't have to know anything to drive fast.

Stork Shower

Accord, Nov. 5—Susan Gay Bailey was the recipient of many beautiful gifts when her little friend, Jackie Tweedle, held a stork shower in her honor recently. Susan's mother, Mrs. J. H. Bailey, was the guest of honor. The following attended: Mrs. Freddie Lawrence, Mrs. Frank Finley, Mrs. Joe Reid, Mrs. Alice Bostwick, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. Rita Roach, Miss Helen and Marie Ketterer, Mrs. H. A. Tweedle.

73d Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Margaret Heikel of 212 Foxhall avenue entertained a few of her friends Wednesday evening, October 30, the occasion being her 73d birthday anniversary. Games were played and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The dainty refreshments served included three large birthday cakes. All departed wishing Mrs. Heikel many more happy birthdays. Guests were Mrs. Henry Beckert, Mrs. Elizabeth Montgomery, Mrs. Laura W. Slickney, Mrs. Edith Alliker.

John A. Colwell to Wed

New York, Nov. 4 (Special)—The marriage of John A. Colwell, 30, former New Paltz resident now of 558 West 162nd street, this city, to Miss Mary Frances Ford, 24, of 524 West 173rd street, New York, will take place here shortly. It was learned this morning when the couple obtained a license to wed at the Municipal Building. Mr. Colwell, son of John S. and Mabel Bishop Colwell, was born in New Paltz. His bride-to-be, who was born here, is the daughter of Michael and Catherine Kennedy Ford.

Shower

A shower for Miss Myrtle Auchmoody was held at the home of Mrs. N. E. Kluepfel, 74 Henry street, Monday evening, October 28. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Eck, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knapp, Mrs. Mary Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kluepfel, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Natoli, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schiebel, Mrs. Henry Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers, Miss M. Knapp, Edgar Peterson, Edna Webster, Walter Knapp, Kathryn Matthews, Alice Knapp, Henry Matthews, Jr., Richard Schabot, George R. Peterson, Raymond Morgan, Nicholas Kluepfel, Edward I. Knapp, Anna Auchmoody, Donald Peterson.

Sorosis

Sorosis met at the home of Mrs. Grover Lasher on Monday afternoon. The business session was brief after which the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Louis Kiegl, who presented in a most interesting manner "The Tudor Period, Edward VI, Mary and Elizabeth." The reign of Queen Elizabeth marked the beginning of Modern England. It was the period in literature which produced Shakespeare, Spenser and Bacon. Commerce advanced and through charters granted to merchants of the East India Company the nucleus of the Colonial British Empire was formed. The roll call was "Manor houses in England." The meeting next week will be held at the home of Mrs. Cora Drake.

John Gordon Reel to Marry

New York, Nov. 4 (Special)—John Gordon Reel, 32, U. S. Army, a former resident of Kingston who said he was engaged in Civilian Conservation Corps work and gave his present address both as Manville, N. Y., and 425 East 51st street, this city, obtained a license at the Kings County Municipal Building here this morning to wed Miss Roberta Victoria Tyrrel Orgill, 22, of 75 Pierrepont street, Brooklyn. The couple indicated they would be married here in the near future. Mr. Reel, who was born in Kingston, is the son of Gordon and Charlotte Preston Reel. His bride-to-be, daughter of Victor and Dolores Fox Orgill, was born in Brooklyn.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Nov. 5—H. C. Locke of Camp Shady Rest and John S. Ray of Poughkeepsie, with Mr. Locke's monocoque airplane are taking a trip to the San Diego Exposition. Mr. Ray will visit with old friends at La Jolla, on the coast.

Mrs. Lulu Locke of Rochester, mother of H. C. Locke, is in a very feeble condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sahler and family of Pataunkunk, spent Sunday with Herman Quirk and family.

Ben Pollock left Saturday for New York city where he will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell M. Van Etten of Nanahon were callers on Saturday afternoon at the Lawrence home.

Mrs. M. Gorsline was a caller recently on Mrs. Ralph Hornbeck.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Quirk spent Sunday afternoon with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lounsbury of Mombacous.

Andrew VanderMark of Sugarloaf was a visitor recently with his father, Darwin VanderMark at Rochester Center.

Hebrom Sheldon of Granite was calling on friends in this section Saturday.

Mrs. Abson Chrysler of Kerhonkson spent Thursday and Friday with her mother, Mrs. Amelia Markle and brothers at Rochester Center.

Mrs. Lulu Gray and two children and uncle Owen Dewitt of Kerhonkson were dinner guests on Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. Lillian Brown and sons of Samsonville.

Henry S. Dewitt and son, Montecena, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Davis and family of Kripplush.

Mrs. Melinda Gorsline was a pleasant caller Saturday afternoon on Mrs. Amy Stevens and Mrs. Irving Colville of Kerhonkson.

Many friends of Leslie E. Lawrence are pleased to hear he is gaining in health.

ARDONIA

Ardonia, Nov. 5—Eugene Paltridge was a caller in Modena Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Michael Mulvihill and son of Walden were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hyatt, on Friday.

Mrs. Floyd Harcourt and daughter of Modena were callers in town Friday afternoon.

Committeemen of the Clintondale, Ardonia and Modena units of the Farm Bureau attended a meeting at the home of Eber Coy recently.

Members of the Home Bureau who attended the Halloween party at the Modena schoolhouse last Tuesday evening report a jolly good time.

Mrs. Ira Hyatt won first prize for her costume. Mrs. George Altheusen assisted by Mrs. Frank Coy of Modena, led in playing games. Those from this place who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Eber Coy and sons, Robert and Eugene, Miss Emma Palmer, Mrs. Lillie Sickler, Mrs. George Altheusen and daughter, Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hyatt.

Mrs. Eugene Paltridge was a caller in Modena Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred Bernard and daughters, Verda and Arlene, Gloria and Phyllis Paltridge of Modena were callers in town Sunday afternoon.

Body Found in Lake

Nyack, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—The body of a man who apparently had been beaten to death with a blunt instrument was found today in Knauth's Lake near Clarkstown, N. Y.

Identification marks had been removed from his clothing. Coroner John C. Dingman said the man was about 30, and had been dead for about ten days. Police, seeking a possible link with the recent Dutch Schultz slayings, sent fingerprints to the New York and Newark police.

In County Granges

Uster Grange No. 949, of Uster Park, will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday, November 6, at 8 o'clock. Worthy Master J. Hudson Cole will preside.

This will be the regular election of officers and a good attendance is desired.

Refreshments will be served. On October 30 the Grange sponsored a Halloween party for the members and friends of the Grange. About 80 attended. All kinds of stunts and games were enjoyed. Every lady attending brought a box lunch for two which late in the evening were auctioned off to the men. This made lots of fun. Some amusing costumes were worn which were much enjoyed.

The committee in charge was Reuben Gullian and Miss Mabel Story.

ITALIAN ADVANCE ON MAKALE

This map shows the four routes being taken by Italian troops in their advance on Makale, objective of their second concerted drive. The black triangles indicate the approximate points in Duca's fighting men have reached to date.

League Group Meets For Boycott Purpose

day halt in the advance of the Italian troops into Ethiopia was ordered all along the line today because of the rain and the need of building supply roads up to the present front.

During the intervening time, before the move southward is expected to begin again, the line will be straightened out and communications improved to permit continuous contact between all Italian columns.

The Italian advance, slogging through mud and water, had occupied the heights commanding the rich plain of Makale, immediate objective of the present drive.

While the advance column forged ahead within striking distance of the city of Makale, General Pietro Maravigna's right wing swerved abruptly to the west to rid the region of any lingering Ethiopian forces.

This mopping-up operation cleared out for Italy the last of the vast frontier region between the former Ethiopia-Eritrea border and the Takake river.

Italian scouting planes returning from a flight ahead of the advancing troops reported that a body of Ethiopians estimated to number 3,000 was moving north from Amba Alagi toward Makale, bearing a white flag and the Italian tricolor, presumably to join the Fascist forces.

An official communique announced occupation of the entire Ethiopian area south as far as the limits of Wogoro, beyond Dongo, only some 15 miles before Makale.

Italian officers said three columns of the advancing force, 120,000 strong, probably would be united in the treeless region about Agula, in the area 15 miles northeast of Makale, for the final push on that city.

Economies Begin

Rome, Nov. 5 (AP)—Fascist Italy put into effect today self-imposed economies to combat League of Nations sanctions.

Butcher shops closed for the day. Public dining was limited to but a single meat or fish course in a meal. Henceforth, under Premier Mussolini's six-month edict, meat stores will close every Tuesday and sell no pork, veal or beef on Wednesday.

The National Association for Fuel Control applied limitations on sales of combustibles of all sorts, and set up a heating control organization, coal and gasoline to be distributed guardedly to make supplies available for the army.

Despite these sacrifices, under taken to nullify League of Nations punitive measures and to permit the campaign of conquest to continue in Ethiopia, an authoritative source said Italy had not wavered from its intention to adhere to the league—unless its position at Geneva becomes absolutely impossible.

Italians generally accepted the new restrictions without complaining. The average diet throughout the kingdom did not include, even before the self-imposed "sanctions," both fish and meat at the same meal. Spaghetti and noodles, the staples for the middle and lower class families, were unaffected by the edict.

Diners who offered to pay an additional fee for both meat and fish courses were informed that such services could be unprofitable.

Although meals were reduced, prices were not. The one course reductions were ignored in the making up of most weekly board bills.

Another Mussolini started for the front to join his two aviator sons, Vittorio and Bruno. He is Tullio Mussolini, a cousin of the premier, who sailed from Naples last night for the southern front.

Appointment With Fate. The British ambassador, had an appointment with Premier Mussolini today but authorization sources said they saw little hope for any concrete development until after the British elections, November 14.

These sources said there was not at this moment a sign of any specific plan for the settlement of the East African controversy and the difference between Italy and Great Britain.

The diplomatic conversations still were described as being only for the "clarification of points of view."

"Italy and Great Britain," said a government spokesman, "do not yet speak the same diplomatic language."

He cited, as one of the points of misunderstanding, Italy's declared willingness to recognize Great Britain's material interests in East Africa and Great Britain's insistence that she is not actuated by such interests in her attitude toward the East African controversy.

In official quarters, the possible postponement of peace negotiations was blamed on the British. In these quarters it was asserted that the British action in calling for an internal election at this time interfered with the fruition of diplomatic conversations.

Officials here said the British cannot negotiate on international matters until the result of their election is known.

VARIETY OF NAMES FOR PARIS STREETS

People, Events, Saints and Devils Represented.

Paris.—"What's in a name?" may mean very little to most people, but it evidently meant a great deal to the people who once had charge of naming the streets here.

Not only people and events are recorded in this diversified dictionary of Paris by-ways and thoroughfares, but colors, animals, saints, devils, virtues and vices.

God and Babylon each have a street; the Trinity has a square, the Holy Spirit a public courtyard and the child Jesus is represented by an "impasse," called "L'Impasse de l'Enfant Jesus" on the left bank not far from the bright lights of Montparnasse.

There is a "Street of Bad Boys" as well as another of "Good Children." Near the Pere Lachaise cemetery is an appropriate "Street of Repose." Here, just facing the celebrated burial ground, is a cafe and the enterprising proprietor has hung a sign on his door reading, "Welcome! You are better off here than across the street."

Some Odd Names.

"La Rue du Chat qui Peche" or the Street of the Fishing Cat, is another of peculiar nomenclatures to be found in Paris, as well as the streets of White Coats, of the Red Ball, the Green Road, the Golden King and the White Queen. As for trees, there is the Big Pebble street, Little Fields street (also Big Fields), street of the Big Bottle, the Little Monk and the Big Priory.

Britain is well represented by such names as King Edward VII, King George V and Queen Victoria. There is an English street, Irish street, Scottish street and streets named after Rome, Edinburgh, Naples, Antwerp and London. As for Englishmen themselves, there is Charles Dickens street, Lord Byron, Roger Bacon, Faraday, Victoria, Livingstone, Newton and Wilfrid Laurier from Canada.

Only six Americans are perpetuated in Paris streets. They are: Washington, Franklin, Lincoln, Gordon Bennett, Pershing and Wilson, only one of whom is living today. Pershing spends much of his time in Paris.

French Saints Lead.

As far as quantity is concerned, French saints win the popularity contest. There are more than 200 streets in Paris named for Christian church saints. Voltaire and Rousseau represent the agnostics while Pasteur, Charles Wagner is one of the Protestants to have a street named in his honor.

Rides and furniture—Lark street and the Street of the Chair—are also represented throughout Paris as well as such military men as the Streets of Strychna, the Fatig, Long Bourdon, Balzac, the Barker, Court of the Blue, Gues Impasse, the Bricker, the Baker and the Charlie Sick Mober, Good News, Camels, Camellias, Caraville and Cervantes; the Street of the Sea, Moon and Stars; Victoria, Rome, Athens; Corn, Scumple, Fish, North Pole, Justice, Jules Verne, the High Hat, W.B. Thom Tell, Three Brothers, Three Wives, Three Rivers and the Three Pines Streets.

Although 200 miles from the Gulf of Mexico, Columbus, Cal., would be a capital town according to plans now on file with the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

VERIFIES ROAD MAP OF ROMAN BRITAIN

Museum Employee Superimposes It on Modern One.

London.—The bright idea of an assistant in the cartographical department of the British museum is responsible for one of the most important discoveries in regard to the Roman occupation of Britain ever made.

Only about 200 miles of the roads built by the Romans have so far been uncovered. It is now possible to plot their entire system of several thousand miles. Moreover, it is revealed that many rural roads which were supposed to have been evolved from cattle paths have in reality a Roman foundation. This, however, only applies to straight roads.

The discovery was made in this way: A set of ordnance survey maps showing, among other things, all modern roads, streets, lanes and paths had been received at the cartographical department for filing. There was also on file there a Roman map of Britain showing the 200 miles of the roads that had been laid bare, besides other identified Roman remains.

Verifies by Digging.

The clerk made a map of this on the same scale as the other and superimposed it. In many cases the Roman roads covered the modern for a certain distance but only where the latter were straight or crossed each other at right angles.

Then the young man went digging. Under the surface of a few modern roads he found the remains of the Roman; in digging in fields where a continuation of the Roman road was indicated, he found it. Thus his superimposed map was gradually filled in with extensions of known Roman roads, and with new ones, where measurements showed Roman roads should exist and he had provided did exist.

Although his work is still incomplete he has announced his discovery, and permitted a "correspondent" of the Times of London to exploit it in that paper with a map showing his plotting covering the area along Ermine street north and south of Lincoln, in Lincolnshire, northeast of Derby.

This map reveals the two clues which he followed: first, that all the modern local roads for miles leave Ermine street at right angles to its course—an unusual thing in regard to the "rolling English road," which usually seeks a path of least resistance; second, that south of Lincoln the principal roads opposite Harston, Coleby, Boothby, etc., leave Ermine street and run due east, and after a mile or so of straight running meet a partly uncovered Roman road running parallel to it. He continues:

For Definite Purpose.

"Beyond all doubt these roads were laid out by one authority for some definite purpose. They differ in every way from our normal English roads, which go with certain exceptions from one village to another. But here in Lincoln is a series of roads which run in a dead straight line and mostly from places of no importance to destinations of no evident usefulness."

No one doubts that Lincoln was a Roman city and a Roman gale remains to this day. But no one has yet suggested that all this strange chess-board area north and south of the city bears an imprint in roads and parish boundaries which can only be that of the colony of 1,800 years ago. Yet there would seem to be no other explanation."

Hitch-Hiking Dog Rides on Car Running Boards

Pasco, Wash.—A hitch-hiking wire-haired terrier named Raging, who beat his way from point to point around the Northwest, is Pasco's latest oddity.

Riding on the running board of auto mobiles which give him a lift, Raging recently has visited Olympia, Yakima and several other points. One of his rides was at a speed of better than 100 miles an hour. When the car stopped and he had a short rest, the dog nonchalantly climbed back on the running board for a return trip home.

The discovery by chemists at the State Experiment Station at Geneva that small amounts of air entrapped in bottled fruit juices may exert profound changes in their flavor, aroma, and appearance has led to the development of methods of handling these juices that result in greatly improved products. A brief account of these new methods and of other noteworthy contributions from the station's fruit juice laboratory is presented by Dr. D. K. Truettner, Station chemist, in the current number of "Farm Research," the station's quarterly magazine for farmers.

Out 150 Participate Cister County Home Bureau Kitchen Tour

Kitchen Tour sponsored by the Cister County Home Bureau and Friday was organized in Kingston. Headed by two troopers the group proceeded to Napanoch where visits were made. Mr. and Mrs. Devere Smith opened their home to show an excellent cupboard arrangement with light paint on the back of the cupboard, making it easy to see the dishes. In the dining room there was a drawer for each compartment, thus saving time and keeping the pieces separate. The collection of metal work block printing exhibited in the dining room was the work of William Napanoch and Kingston Home Bureau units. In crafts, under the direction of Mrs. Emma Swopes, the Rev. Mrs. C. Morton Sciple and the Rev. Mrs. C. Morton Sciple led the kitchen with its convenient cupboard by the stove, a drop behind the table and removable with its stamp cabinet and fully grouped furniture, was in the dining room. The homemakers present noted that an excellent place for shoes is an ordinary chest of drawers. Mr. Haley, from Ellenville, as host in Mr. Sciple's work, a place to gladden the heart of any man or boy.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant, tourists saw a very attractive home with many built-in features and the stove and ice box, and a planned dish cabinet. The tour was all done by Mr. Grant. During the attention, too, was the use of the household had made for room.

Mr. H. M. Eppes of Accord opened the tour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant, where the arrangement and decoration had worked out to save time and give beauty to the house.

Box lunches were eaten at the Reformed Church at Accord. The ladies of the church prepared delicious homemade ice cream.

Mrs. Margaret Lewis, chairman of the executive committee of the Home Bureau, acted as chairman at the day meeting and introduced the guests.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross, at Stone Ridge was the next stop. Their new home, with its three rooms, invited interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Demetrius France of Poughkeepsie let the members view the colorful kitchen, which had been worked out as the result of a conference. Mr. France did construction and originated an efficient device for equipment. With advice and assistance of Mrs. Dea, Dennett here was exhibited collection of vitamin A rich foods.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ducker of Flatbush there was an opportunity to see an ingenious arrangement for overhanging made by the planning to do over her kitchen the future and all were invited to turn when it was completed. A section of made-over felt hats was up in the living room. These good looking results of Miss Eppes' classes on the renovation of felt hats.

The Saugerties High School was next stop. Miss Catherine Finley and her girls showed the up the kitchen cabinet which had been repainted by the group and the adjoining rooms, walls, ceilings and floor, which had been attractive over, as well as the furniture. A demonstration of knife sharpening and soldering was given by 4-5 under the direction of Bar-Joy.

The last visit was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fiero of Malabar. Particular attention was called to the parts of an old kitchen cabinet, installed in the new cupboard, to the linoleum topped working faces protected with metal strips on the edges. This cheerful, attractive kitchen, made a happy closing to the tour.

Miss Evelyn Nance, former Home Bureau manager, was in the county for several days previous to the tour.

There were about 150 guests on the tour, which was organized by Ella Cushman, specialist in household management from the College of Home Economics at Ithaca.

Mrs. Grace M. Eppes, county chairman of household management, Miss Everette Parsons, county home Bureau manager, Miss Margaret Lewis, specialist in household management, and Mrs. Lillian Smith, specialist in household management, were present; also Miss Catherine Finley, homemaker teacher at the Saugerties High School.

Left a bus load of students from homemaker class and several boys. Miss Nellie Davenport, homemaker teacher at the high school in Kingston, attended with a group of homemaker students and Mrs. Mabel Milham, home demonstration agent from Rensselaer county, on the tour with two guests.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Swagger fur ensembles strike that casual note.
Lena Murwin

The fur coated ensemble with a casual air appears as one of the outstanding street costumes for cold weather wear. Being especially smart and youthful, it makes an ideal outfit for spectator sports occasions yet it is equally desirable for those who prefer a sporty town or business costume.

The lining of the coat matches the woolen skirt, scarf and hat with telling effect, in a lighter gray tone that harmonizes smartly with the darker gray fur.

The charming model sketched above shows a swagger styled coat of slate gray moleskin in full trotteur length, with raglan shoulders, full balloon sleeves, slash pockets and a high tunnel collar. The coat lies only at the throat and hangs smartly open below to reveal its matching lining. A tie-scarf of the same woolen fabric features satin applique in harmonious shade for the trimming motifs on its loose ends for pleasing accent.

The tailored skirt is slashed at each side to provide comfortable walking width while the swagger matching hat has a seamed crown, down turned front brim, and a gros-grain band with the trimming bow placed at the right side.

WE'RE JUDGED BY OUR LETTERS SO LET'S WRITE THEM WELL

YOUR LETTER—BETTER THAN DOCTOR'S VISIT

A letter from you would mean so much to Jack! He'll be in the hospital for weeks with that broken leg, and perhaps have to limp around with a cane for some time. He must be feeling pretty blue, thinking of the money lost, the fun he's missing—all those gloomy thoughts that come to people when they're ill.

The letter you write will put a stop to some of these thoughts. You won't tell him that Al has lost his job and the Kennicott's house burned and Marjorie's lovely collie dog died. All those depressing items can wait. But he will like to hear that Jim succeeded in selling that big insurance policy; that Henry won that scholarship; that you'll send him a grand mystery story; and that you wish he would write down that letter he got off the last time you saw him.

"Oh, it isn't so hard to write letters to friends: it's those letters to people you only half know that bother you," you say. That's possibly because we rely on gossip for our main interest in letters. Personal chit-chat is not necessarily bad in a letter, but it is a more distinguished habit to discuss ideas, and to widen our interests. Get bits like this into your letters:

"Today I was reading a most fascinating article about famous people and their cats. It is amazing how many noted men and women have been the slaves of their 'kitties'."

Our 40-page Home Institute booklet, HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS, will not only help you with letters to friends but with the many etiquette problems which come up in writing letters. It explains how to phrase an invitation and reply to it; how to write a courteous bread-and-butter note or other thank-you letter; how to strike the right tone in replying to a letter from the young man you met on a visit in another city; how to begin and end a business letter. It suggests ways of doing those difficult letters of congratulation and sympathy.

Orange Marmalade

4 pounds prepared oranges
1 pound prepared lemons
Sugar
Wash oranges and lemons. Cut into quarters with sharp knife. Discard seeds. Cut fruits into very thin slices. Add water and let stand 24 hours. Bring to boil and simmer 10 minutes. Let stand another 24 hours. Simmer until rind is very tender. This will require about 2 hours. Measure and add equal amount of sugar. Boil gently until the mixture "jellies" when a portion is tested on a cold plate. Pour into sterilized jars and, when cool, seal with paraffin.

Chocolate Pecan Pie
(Rich But So Good)

1 baked pie
shell
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
2 squares choc-
colate
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup pecans
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Blend sugar with flour, add chocolate, salt, yolks and milk. Cook about 15 minutes in double boiler, stir frequently. When thick and creamy, add pecans and vanilla and pour into pie shell. Cover with meringue.

Beat whites until stiff, add sugar and beat until creamy. Roughly spread over pie filling. Bake 12 minutes in slow oven. Cool and serve.

MODERN WOMEN

Modern women are making a big splash in the world of fashion. They are wearing more elaborate and stylish clothing than ever before. They are also more confident and assertive in their behavior. This is a reflection of the changes in society and the role of women in the workforce.

First American League Game At The Auditorium Wednesday

Frank Morgenweck's Cities Service basketball team will try to get on the winning road Wednesday night at the Municipal Auditorium in its third American League game.

Opposition in this tilt, the first home game in the league for the Morgenweckers, will be furnished by the Jersey Reds.

Over the week-end, the Kingstonians lost two games, one Saturday night to the SPHAS at Philadelphia, 52-36, and Sunday to the New York Jewels at Brooklyn, 25-17. Physical inability of two players is blamed by Morgenweck for the losses.

Corky Stanton, flashy forward, was ill and could not go a full game and Jim Lennon, center, suffered an eye injury on the second jump Saturday. Neither he nor Stanton were right for the Sunday game, but are ready to go to the limit Wednesday.

Morgenweck has said something about negotiating with President John J. O'Brien of the league for a new player and indicates are that he may be with the club Wednesday. Morgenweck would not reveal the name of the tatter he seeks to strengthen his lineup.

Moe Spahn, Stanton's mate at forward, was the star of both games away from home and is expected to do the bulk of the scoring tomorrow night. Moe made 23 points against the SPHAS and 10 against the Jewels.

Neither Carlie Husta nor Frank Shimek, Kingston guards, have hit their regular stride yet. If these two luminaries of last year's Lexingtonians can get going Kingston's chances should be bolstered a lot Wednesday.

The Jersey Reds have in their lineup some of basketball's best performers such as Paulie Adamo who put on a couple of brilliant exhibitions last year for Kingston fans, Willie Scirel, George Glazco and Al Benson. Starting lineup of the game is 8-45. There will be preliminary at 7:45 between the Cordis Hose five and the Kendall Oil quintet.

Regarding reserved seats, Manager Morgenweck says that they will not be held after 8:30 unless he is advised by phone. Last week 75 tickets were ordered and not called for; neither were they cancelled.

Student tickets went on sale today at the American Legion and at the Auditorium. They will be on sale Wednesday too between 12 and 1 p. m. and 3 and 4 p. m. Student tickets will not be sold at the box office.

Tuffy Thompson Had a Stomach Ache

Minneapolis, Nov. 5 (P)—Clarence (Tuffy) Thompson, star Minnesota back, can sympathize with Babe Ruth and his stomach ache that made baseball history several years ago. When he finally stopped blushing, Tuffy admitted it wasn't an injury that forced him out of Saturday's game with Purdue in the third quarter—just the effect of too many oranges and sugar lumps consumed between the halves. The rest of the Gophers partook sparingly, but Tuffy was hungry.

"BIGGEST IN THE WORLD" BERLIN'S OLYMPIC BOAST

Berlin (P)—Superlatives like "the world's largest" and "the most gigantic" are used in Germany to describe the 1936 Olympic games, or as placards say, "the biggest athletic event in history."

Public attention is focused on the spacious Olympic stadium with its large fields and swimming ponds now nearing completion, and what is claimed to be the largest open air theater in the world.

Situated within the "Reich's sport field," as the stadium grounds are called, the theater will also serve as stadium during the games. The theater, which is being erected in memory of the much heralded Nazi dramatist, Dietrich Eckart, will accommodate 20,000 spectators, while its stage provides room for 1,200 actors performing at the same time.

BOYS WEED REEFMAN GYM CLASS MONDAY

The Employed Boys and the student A held their regular gym class in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Monday evening. The gym class was followed by a swim in the Y pool.

Those attending the class were: Bernard O'Sullivan, Donald Broadhead, Phil M. St. Tom, McNamee, Roger Salzman and Wm. Van. Several light seniors also attended the class, these being Don Ducker, Jack Martin, Jim O'Reilly, Knute Rockert, Al Glanzen, "Tuffy" Thompson, Ron Handman and Clarence Rocker. The subject part of the class time was spent in the playing of basketball.

Rough And Ready

FOR THE PAST TEN YEARS HE HAS BEEN PITCHING HIS ABILITY TO "TAKE IT" AGAINST THE SKILL AND PUNCH OF THE LEADING HEAVYWEIGHTS—HE HAS NEVER BEEN KNOCKED OFF HIS FEET.

It took the combined efforts of Promoter Mike Jacobs and the Madison Square Garden folks to dig up Paulino Uzcudun, the battered Basque wood-chopper, as an opponent for Joe Louis. No doubt they feel proud of their achievement. They should. After all, they had to go all the way to Europe to resurrect the 36-year-old trial horse. It is all well and good for Mike Jacobs to pattern his promotional ventures after the one and only Tex Rickard, but it does seem that he is carrying that practice a bit too far when he brings Paulino over again to "test" the Brown Bomber. Ten years ago Tex imported the wood-chopper to give an international flavor to the heavyweight elimination tournament he was staging.

Paulino's Tough A lot of water has flowed under Brooklyn Bridge since that time and Paulino has absorbed a lot of beating. He has taken 'em all on and the most of them have taken him. True he has never been counted out, or even put on the floor by an opponent's punch. He is rugged, no denying that. It is doubtful if a tougher fighter ever drew on red leather gloves. But that is about all he has to recommend him as an opponent for Joe Louis, the man who has been acclaimed by many as the greatest heavyweight in the history of the ring.

Paulino in the course of his travels in this country did, by means of his aggressive, mauling style, earn decisions over Max Baer, Knute Hansen, Tom Heeney, Otto Von Porat, Pierre Charles and Jack Renault. His record shows that he knocked out Phil Scott in 1926 and Harry Wills in 1927. But that only indicates how bad they must have been.

Primo Carnera, Johnny Risko, Max Schmeling, Tommy Loughran, Mickey Walker, Ernie Schaaf and King Levinsky took his measure in decision bouts. Schmeling won a 12-round decision over him last July in Berlin.

There is nothing in Paulino's record to indicate that he is at all likely to upset all the plans Mike Jacobs has laid for his pride and joy, Joe Louis.

Target for Louis On the contrary, Punctless

Paulino is just the type to permit the Brown Bomber to open up his heavy artillery at the first bell without the slightest fear of leaving himself open for a damaging punch. Paulino couldn't hurt him.

Joe Louis, or any puncher for that matter, always looks his best when he knows the other fellow is not likely to tear his head off with a counter-punch. The main reason Louis looked so good against Levinsky and Baer was because in both cases he faced men who were too frightened to let go a real punch.

After all one can hardly blame Mike Jacobs and Madison Square Garden for protecting their own interests and if the folks want to shell out their hard-earned shekels to see Joe Louis put the battered Basque on the floor for the first time, that's up to them. Mike Jacobs seems to think that is what they want and up to the present time Promoter Mike has not been wrong.

Jacobs has sealed the prices so that a capacity house will grow in the neighborhood of $160,000. And Jacobs is confident that when the men square off early in December it will be before a capacity house.

Braddock Says That He Can Beat Joe Louis

Seattle, Nov. 5 (P)—James J. Braddock, reigning king of the heavyweights, came forth today with a prediction of a million dollar gate for his expected fight with Joe Louis, and then without drawing a breath, promised to beat the Brown Bomber from Detroit.

Blithely summing up the shortcomings of other possible adversaries, Braddock declared Louis was the only opponent in whom he was interested.

"There is no one now that means a great deal outside of Joe," Braddock said. "I figure that a match between Louis and me will draw better than a million. I'm picking the toughest opponent for the biggest money."

"Louis is quite a fighter, but I really think I can beat him. Louis really hasn't been tested yet and I feel sure that I can take him."

Braddock will not defend his title until June but when he does go into the ring, he said, he wants to see none other than Joe Louis in the other corner.

Here are the champion's opinions of ranking heavyweights: "Max Schmeling is a pretty good boxer, but Louis will take him."

"Primo Carnera, King Levinsky and Max Baer were scared to death when they faced Louis."

Braddock dismissed Jack Sharkey

Liberty High Defeats Monticello High, 31-0

The Liberty High School team proved altogether too much for the Monticello eleven, in their game at Liberty Saturday, outtrussing them by 14 first downs to two and taking the game 31 to 0. Passes accounted for two of the touchdowns and in the last minute of play Tom Kelly, Liberty halfback, shot a 40-yard pass to Captain Quinn in the end zone.

The Yellow Jackets will hold a practice session tonight at the rear of the Auditorium, in preparation for the game next Sunday, with the Watervliet Merriams.

WALLKILL PRISON LOSES OPENING BASKETBALL GAME

The Wallkill Prison basketball team lost its first game of the season Sunday afternoon, when they were defeated by the Middletown All Stars 51 to 35.

STATUE OF LIBERTY PLAY GIVES FOR A TOUCHDOWN

East Lansing, Mich. (P)—Spectators at the Michigan State-Kansas football game saw a new version of the venerable "Statue of Liberty" play.

A Kansas forward-passer was rushed and having trouble finding a receiver, the passer was tackled, but he wasn't down and he stood poised with the ball when a Michigan State end came in fast, calmly lifted the ball from the outstretched hand of the harried Jayhawk, and ambled down the field for one of the Spartans' six touchdowns.

Home Leaders To Practice

The Home Leaders will meet for practice this evening at 7 o'clock at White Eagle Hall for the game Friday night with the Liberty Emeralds.

Ex-Army Gridiron Chief, Tutor Of Noted Coaches, Approves Modern Tactics

By DILLON GRAHAM (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Washington (P)—Back around the turn of the century, when the tandem and tackle-back formations comprised football's chief offensive maneuvers, Ernest (Pete) Graves played four full seasons at tackle on Army's eleven. He then coached for nearly two decades before quitting the game.

Now, as a retired colonel on special duty in the chief of engineers' office here, Graves puffs his pipe and chuckles as he recalls the old days and reads of the successes of the gridder he coached at West Point, Harvard and Princeton.

He wrote "Linebacker's Bible" Many of his players earned fame as coaches and were among the hundreds of mentors who used Graves' manual of line play—"The Linebacker's Bible"—published in 1920. To this day, at West Point, they mention Graves as an example of perfection in positional technique. What he didn't know about line play wasn't worth knowing.

A big jovial fellow around 60, with white hair and eyebrows that speak a language of their own, Graves has seen the football cycle move through all the stages from the old days of push and pull down to the highly intricate game of today. His chief comment is that a player must be faster and more agile today and that he has more opportunity to use his intelligence.

Played The "Greets" His gridiron competition began in 1897 at the University of North Carolina, then picked up again in 1901 at the military academy. He played fullback at the southern school and tackle at army. It was during his West Point years that he faced such gridiron greats as Vince Yale's great end, and Eckersall, Chicago's brilliant tackle, runner and kicker, and Paul Bunker, on all-time tackle. Maj. Gen. Leon Krome, chief of cavalry, was his coach. He recalls the 1903 run at Chicago, Army's first intercollegiate clash.

"Eckersall was running wild, but Army was primed for him, swarmed on him so closely he had no chance to do any dropping or running," he said, "and after he returned the opening of 40 yards."

He coached at West Point in 05, 1912-17 and 1919-20. He used him as a line coach in 1901 and Princeton in 1921.

Met Rockne-Dorais Pass Ball It was while he was at West Point that Notre Dame came to the aid to unhook a forward passing game, with Gus Dorais pitching, Knute Rockne catching, that Army groggy.

Graves regards the 1916 West Point team as the best he coached—the outfit that had Ed Oliphant and Gene Vidal, now of the commerce department's service, in the backfield—and classes Hamilton Fish, an all-American at Harvard and now representative from New York, as the lineman he ever taught.

Among the Army players Graves coached who have made records in college coaches, are John M. O'Brien of Oregon, Army and Holy Cross; Bob Neyland of Tennessee; Army; Ralph Sasse of Michigan State and Army; "Blitz" Jones of Army, Louisiana State and home; and Paul Parker and Britton of Tennessee.

Guessing on the Winner of the 1936 Kentucky Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Nov. 5 (P)—Trying to pick the winner of the 1936 Kentucky Derby may be just so much guesswork, but upwards of a dozen two-year olds turned in performances this year that should furnish plenty of debate during the winter months.

Any horseman will tell you that a thousand-and-one things can happen before next May, that a champion juvenile may turn out to be a player three-year old, or that a horse unrated off its two-year old form may develop into another Man O' War, a Twenty Grand or an Equus.

Such things have happened and they can happen again, especially in view of the erratic performances turned in by two-year olds this year. The class lacked consistency.

C. V. Whitney's Red Rain looked like a champion at Saratoga but faded up completely. Elmer Dale Shaffer's Goldstream ran like a great two-year old in finishing in a dead heat with Red Rain at the Spa and taking the measure of the Whitney ace in the Champagne at Belmont Park.

He too, however, was among the also rans in the big test—the $100,000 futurity at Belmont. Both are bred to go the route, however, Red Rain being by Pennant and Goldstream a bull dog.

On the basis of performances, Hal Price Headley's Hollywood, grand slam from P. A. Barker's Bismarck stable and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Memory Book stand out as most likely to prefer the longer distances of the three-year old stakes.

Tiatagel, rated only sprinter, tops the money winning list with $76,270. Then comes Grand Slam with $66,695, Hollywood with $64,745 and Red Rain with $46,356.

Joan Bart from Walter M. Jefford's stable has shown flashes of great speed and may, like most Man O' War colts, improve with age. The same goes for Ogden Phipps' White Cockade, sired by Diavolo, one of the greatest route horses of American turf history, and J. E. Widener's Brevity, forced into early retirement because of injuries.

Any list of the leading juveniles must include the Wheatley stable's mark; postage due from Alfred O'Connell's Vanderbilt's barn; Forever Yours, the ranking filly of her age, and the Fighter, both from Mrs. Elhel V. Marx' Wilky Way Farm; and Sport Second, which showed great promise in the siks of the King Ranch.

BOYLE BOYS ARE "B BERT" AT PORTLAND BOARD POSTS

Portland, Ore. (P)—If it wasn't for the Boyle boys the University of Portland football team would be hard up for guards this year.

Four Boyles are members of the grid squad. Three are brothers—and all four play guard. They are Jim, Joe and Norbert Boyle from Dougherty, Iowa, and Bernard Boyle of Santa, Mont.

Father Joseph J. Boyle is president of the university.

Baptist Youth Meet In Rochester Nov. 17

DR. J. H. FRANKLIN

A Baptist Youth Conference will be held at Rochester, Sunday, November 17. The sessions will be held in Lake Avenue Baptist Church, beginning at 10:30 a. m. and continuing throughout the day and evening. The Rev. W. S. K. Yeaple, pastor of the Lake Avenue Church and the Rev. Kenneth L. Cober, director of Christian Education for New York State, are in charge of preparations for the event.

This unusual gathering of Baptist youth is one of a series of similar conferences planned under the leadership of Dr. James H. Franklin, president of the Northern Baptist Convention. The idea grew out of Dr. Franklin's conviction that "the denomination needs the eyes and heart of youth as well as the wisdom of the elders, if we are to discern the signs of the times and exercise the daring required to make the Kingdom of God and His righteousness first in all our planning."

The first conference of the series was held September 22, on the campus of Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa., of which Dr. Franklin is president. On that occasion more than 800 signed registration cards. A still larger attendance is predicted for the New York gathering.

HIGHLAND

Highland, Nov. 5.—Theodore Coelho of New York is spending this week with his aunt, Mrs. Fred Lewis Vall, at Lakeledge.

The Pioneer group celebrated Halloween Saturday night by holding a party in the attic of the former Terwilliger building on Main street. The young people decorated the rooms with Richard Corwin in charge; Robert Coutant had the entertainment planned; Miss Barbara Lent arranged the refreshments and they had one glorious evening's fun. Chaperoned by Mrs. D. S. Haynes and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lent were Barbara and Roger Boyce, Richard Corwin, Eddie, Elsie and Elmer Lukach, Stella Cole, Barbara Lent, Abram Deyo, Dorrine Busch, Richard and Ruth Haynes, Robert and Doris Coutant, Royanna Benson, Nancy Dean, Miss Emily Lent and her guest, Miss Hope Collins of Summit, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Champin drove to Brooklyn on Sunday and were guests of Mrs. Champin's cousins until Monday afternoon.

The Friday bridge club losers are entertaining the winners Tuesday afternoon by being hostesses at lunch and a movie, "Top Hat," in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Kantzman and two children are occupying the D. H. Starr shack for a month while Mr. Kantzman is doing some work for the telephone company in this vicinity.

John Asa DuBois is using the garage on Vineyard avenue as dead storage, returning many of the old buses that were housed there before the building was rented by Dugan Brothers last year.

Mrs. Joseph Preston entertained Saturday afternoon two tables of bridge for the October Ladies Aid. Mrs. Harry Colyer, Mrs. LeGrand Haviland, Sr., Mrs. Dora Wilklow, Mrs. A. J. Pratt, Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, Mrs. LeGrand Haviland, Jr., Mrs. John G. Lucas.

Mrs. Willard Burke, organist and choir leader in the Presbyterian Church, entertained Wednesday evening at a Halloween party at the home of Matthew Busch on Wilcox avenue where three empty rooms gave full scope to Halloween games and music. The decorations had been done by Henrietta Woolsey, Dorine Busch, Marian Deyo, Emma Cousse, June Reynolds, Mildred Relyea, Mildred Gruner, and John Salvatore, Richard Burton, Albert Gersch, Wilfred Hasbrouck, Gordon Busch, Theron Woolsey, John Relyea.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards entertained a Halloween party last Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clifton B. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Schantz, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Meekins, Philip Mylod and Miss Esther Brown of Poughkeepsie as guests.

The village reservoir has filled sufficiently since Saturday noon the village has been on the reservoir. The new well being drilled by the water company is now down 50 feet.

YOUTH COUNCIL CABINET WILL MEET TONIGHT

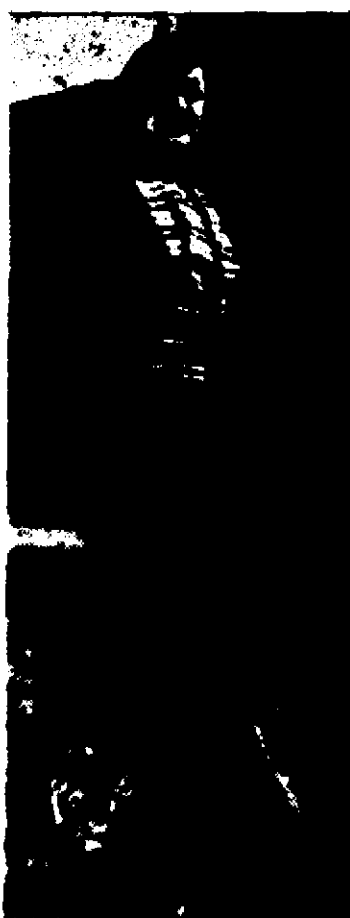

The cabinet of the Ulster County Christian Youth Council will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Y. M. C. A. this evening at 8 o'clock.

All members, one boy, one girl and one adult advisor from each Young People's group in Ulster county, are urged to be present. Plans for the quarterly assembly of the Council to be held in December at Saugerties will be made, along with plans for evening forums and a Christmas carol service. Appointments will also be made for the staff of the Council's bulletin, "The Four Square Life."

Ladies' Aid Meeting

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. James M. E. Church will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, November 6, at 2:30 p. m. in the church parlors. Immediately after the meeting a silver tea will be given by Miss Minnie Rieseley's class. Refreshments will be served and a splendid program presented. All are invited to attend.

Popular Outfit

C. E. Superintendent Selected Saturday

At the annual convention of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union held in the Reformed Church at Woodstock the following superintendents of the various departments were appointed: Junior superintendent, Norma Greene of Kingston; publicity superintendent, Henry Elghme of Kingston; quorum, the Rev. John F. Heldenbrand of Kingston; citizenship, Norman J. Swibold of Kingston; introduction, Miss Dora Pratt of Kingston, and missionary superintendent, Carolyn Ryder.

The C. E. Society of Zena won the Christian Endeavor shield for the third consecutive year; this year they had 94 per cent of their members present at the convention. The loving cup was won by the Poughkeepsie Congregational Church for having the greatest number of delegates attending the convention. The convention committee accepted an invitation from the Clintonale Friends' Christian Endeavor Society to meet with them in the annual convention on November 7, 1936.

Physicists believe that in the future they will be able to make an element synthetically.
